TEXAS TWISTERS LEAVE 54 TO 150 DEAD

Truck Lobby Out to Scuttle Axle Tax Bill

Submit Substitute Proposal; Fight To Open Wednesday

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Two powerful groups toed the mark in the state Capitol today for the biggest fight of the 100th General Assembly.

The issue: Whether a new tax will be put on big trucks to help pay for new Ohio roads.

In one corner is the powerful truck lobby.

In the other is the Republican leadership of the House, the GOP Senate leadership and Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche.

The battle lines were drawn suddenly Monday night. The fight had been brewing several days, ever since the House Public Affairs Committee recommended passage of a "package" of legislation designed to raise 42½ million dollars a year for new highway construction. Keystone of the plan is a 19½ million a year axle-mile tax on big trucks which would be levied on how many miles they are driven on how many axles.

Less than 48 hours before the House was scheduled to vote Wednesday on the "package," two Republican senators introduced a bill to raise 40 to 45 millions a year for highways, but avoid new truck taxes.

The bill was offered by Sens. Lowell Fess (R-Greene) and Ralph L. Humphrey (R-Ashtabula). Fess claimed 15 or 16 Republican votes for it in the Senate where only 17 votes are needed to pass a bill.

The Senate has 23 Republican and 10 Democratic members.

Senate and House legislative leaders of both parties huddled

Parking Ban Discussed by Council

Church St. Traffic Hearing Planned

Faced with a possible lengthy discussion on whether or not to continue the present parking ban on the south side of Church St., Maron City Council last night voted to hold a public meeting on the question at 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday at the city hall.

This decision came after nearly an hour long discussion between proponents and opponents of the no-parking rule developed the earmarks of lasting from two to four hours.

Pointing out that Council had other business to consider, President William G. Slack called a halt to the arguments and with the approval of Council set the date for the public hearing.

Prior to this action Mayor Harold F. Robinson presented a letter calling for continuance of the rule on a permanent basis along with copies of police department records showing traffic counts made at two locations on the street and other records listing the number of accidents at various locations on Church St.

The official board of the Prospect Street Methodist Church also presented a statement of the position of the church members regarding the problem. It called for the adoption of a limited parking ban during rush hours only.

Other Action

In other action Council:

Passed an ordinance setting aside $6,000 which may be used to pay the city's share of financing a traffic survey in and about the city.

Passed a resolution authorizing the safety-service director to locate three traffic lights in school zones which are to be operated during school hours only.

Passed on ordinance allowing ed copies of traffic count recordings made on newly purchased traffic counters. These were discussed briefly but because of the large number of comparisons to be made concerning the various tabulations, Council decided it best not to draw any conclusions from them thoroughly.

Suggest Peak Period Ban

The letter from the Prospect Street Methodist Church presented arguments against continuation of the parking ban on a 24-hour a day basis. The statement called for use of a limited parking plan which would allow parking on both sides of the street with the exception of the period from 3:30 to 6:30 p.m.

The parking ban has taken away all parking space for church members who feel they should be allowed to park near their church on Sundays and during the evening, the statement said.

It also regretted that one-third

Allies Draft Reply to Red Truce Plan

Counterproposal To 8-Point Communist Formula Readied

PANMUNJOM (AP)—Gen. Mark Clark said today the Allies will make a counterproposal shortly to the eight-point Communist prisoner exchange plan branded as "unworkable" by U. N. truce negotiators.

"We will submit a counterproposal shortly which we are sure will observe the principle" of nonforcible repatriation of prisoners, Clark told newsmen.

The U. N. commander arrived in Seoul today from Japan and talked for an hour with South Korean President Syngman Rhee. There was no report of what went on, but Rhee has threatened recently to ignore any armistice which fails to unite Korea.

Rhee's office said it was an "exclusive meeting only between the President and Gen. Clark."

Clark said he also planned to confer with Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison Jr., chief Allied truce delegate.

A spokesman at the Allied truce camp at Munsan said Harrison had not seen the new U. N. proposal.

He said Harrison and his staff were prepared for a possible meeting with Clark this afternoon.

At Tuesday's 52-minute truce session, Harrison accused the Reds of dodging crucial questions on the ultimate disposition of prisoners who repeatedly refuse to go home after an armistice in Korea.

The Communists countered that the Allied questions assume details could not be solved later, step by step, and that an armistice in Korea "cannot be realized at all."

Waco Worst Hit; More May Strike

Weather Bureau Puts Out New Warning; Hundreds Are Hurt

WACO, Tex. (AP) — The U. S. Weather Bureau warned today of the possibility of more Texas tornadoes in the wake of two man-killing twisters Monday which left at least 54—and possibly as many as 150—dead.

The dread tornadoes strking with rare fury 200 miles and two hours apart, killed at least 46 persons in this Central Texas city of 90,000 Monday. Eight were killed in San Angelo far to the west.

The weather bureau at New Orleans this morning issued this severe warning: "There is a possibility of a few tornadoes in the area bounded by Tyler, Lufkin, Yoakum, Del Rio-Eagle Pass area, Junction and Tayler remainder of today and early tonight."

Hundreds of weary rescue workers dug with bare hands and bulldozers here into two piles of rubble which had been part of Waco's downtown business section.

Bodies of five teen-agers were recovered during the night from the wreckage of a pool hall. Fifteen other youths were missing in the building.

Police Sgt. John Wohlwend said "I don't believe another person is alive" in the wreckage of the five-story R. T. Dennis Bldg. and those adjacent. Exactly how many were buried beneath two grotesque mounds of rubble was not known. More than 50 persons are missing.

Monday night with Lausche on the axle-mile proposal. There was no announcement after the meeting, but Lausche emerged during the course of the session to tell newsmen:

"The bill which was introduced in the Senate today reflects definitely the desires of the truckers. With all their might they have been trying to impose the major burden of paying the cost of the construction and maintenance of our highways on the little passenger car operators and to preserve for themselves the lucrative subsidy they have been enjoying. It is shocking to contemplate their audacity."

Here is what the new Fess-Humphrey bill proposes:

A 1½ cent increase in the present 4-cent state gasoline tax, split 50-50 between new construction and maintenance.

An increase in the present $10 a year registration fee for passenger cars to $12.

Continuation of present truck license fees with a 20 per cent increase.

By comparison, here is the Republican highway package on which the House votes Wednesday:

A one-cent increase in the state gasoline and diesel fuel tax, all earmarked for new roads.

An axle-mile tax on vehicles with three or more axles.

Re-enactment of present truck license fees.

Republican Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem said the Fess-Humphrey bill creates a difficult situation in the Senate. But, he said, the axle-mile tax never has been made a part of the Republican policy in the upper house.

Asked if he might turn to the Fess-Humphrey bill if a Republican-Democratic coalition kills the axle-mile proposal, Mechem declared:

"No, because it fails to put a fair share of the tax burden on trucks."

Senate Minority Leader Joseph W. Bartunek was outspoken in his opposition to the axle-mile tax and said a minimum of five and possibly eight Senate Democrats likewise oppose it, despite the fact Lausche favors it.

sheriff's order banning pinball machines from operating in the county.

In telephone interviews with a Star reporter, several distributors said they would not remove pinball machines which are used only for amusement. At least one, however, said he had removed a "one-ball" machine used for gambling.

Sheriff Glenn Obenour, however, reported that a spot-check of business places in the county by his deputies today revealed his order was being complied with.

He added that if any pinball machines were found in operation his office would confiscate them.

The pinball machine distributors were questioning the application of the order in regard to pinball machines which they claim are being used only for amusement. They pointed out the difference between regular pinball machines which they say are not used for gambling and a one-ball machine which is a gambling device. In the latter, the more a player inserts into the machine the better his odds are to win money or things of value. The machine itself does not spew out nickles or dimes as a slot machine does when "hit," but instead the proprietor of the business place pays the player according to the score he has run up. The payment can be in the form of money or things of value.

Obenour said his order does not are to be removed, he said.

Until he gets a ruling from the County Prosecutor's office to the contrary, his order stands, he said, and emphasized that machines discovered in operation in the county will be confiscated.

One pinball machine distributor expressed surprise that it took law investigatory and enforcement officials "as long a time as it did" to recognize the existence of gambling in the county as well as in the city of Marion.

Most of the gambling taking place in the city and county, the distributor said, is being operated by out-of-county interests.

One distributor expressed the belief that law enforcement officials had knowledge of pinball machines and punchboards paying off in money or things of value.

He said he knew a deputy sheriff had played a machine and had won some money. Sheriff Obenour told The Star he had no knowledge of this incident.

Sheriff Obenour re-affirmed his stand of yesterday in which he said that his office feels that pay-offs "undoubtedly are being made in some county business establishments" but that he does not have any definite evidence of this.

Sheriff Obenour announced yesterday he had ordered the removal of all pinball machines and punchboards in the county. He acted after receiving a letter from Prose-

Cost Estimates Knocked Awry by War

Price Advance Reason For 2nd YMCA Drive

This is one of a series of articles dealing with the approaching fund campaign for the new Marion YMCA. The drive for $148,500 will get under way Monday and will continue for one week.

The reason for a second drive for funds for the new YMCA building can be told in just three words—the Korean War.

While the 1950 campaign fell short of its intended goal by $40,000, the main reason for the additional needs can be traced directly to the conflict in Korea, which caused prices to skyrocket.

The 1950 drive was held in June and ended just as the Korean War broke out. At the end of the campaign, a total of $710,000 was on hand.

After the campaign, YMCA officials asked for cost estimates on the building. They totalled $1,050,000, too much for the money on hand. Then building restrictions were placed in effect by the federal government and for a long period, National Production Authority approval was not forthcoming.

During the wait for NPA approval, Y officials found that construction prices had hit their high point and were gradually tapering off. When that happened contracts were let and construction was started. However, prices still have not returned to their pre-Korean level.

Total cost for construction of the building is placed at $901,410 by the Y building committee. Included is the $700,000 cost of the building, purchase of the site for $40,000, engineering fees set at around $42,000, 1950 campaign expenses of $11,000 and furnishings which will cost $71,000.

Marion residents will be asked to contribute $55,000 during the one-week campaign with the balance of the amount needed being collected by the big gifts division and the industrial division.

The building is being constructed with all the facilities promised during the 1950 campaign, Y officials pointed out. That includes a complete recreational plan for youths and adults with equal emphasis being placed on women and men.

the safety-service director to advertise for bids and enter into contracts for oiling and surface treating various streets and alleys.

Authorized the safety-service director to enter into a contract with the Ohio State University Health Center for the treatment of certain patients who are on welfare roles.

Tabled three pieces of legislation. They were on the application of Leo Belknap for permission to build a new print shop at Tully and Oak Sts., the leasing of a section of the Veteran's Housing Project land for use as a ball park, and an amendment to an existing ordinance setting the rate charged the Baker Wood Preserving Co. for sewage disposal.

Sent back to committee for more study were two items, one of which concerned proposed contract to furnish fire protection for the B. F. Goodrich Co. plant near Green Camp. The other would approve galley proofs of the codification of city laws.

Council also confirmed the appointment of Harry L. Dowler to the Board of Commissioners of Marion General Hospital.

Council also authorized a letter to be sent to the Tecumseh Steel Products Co. home office at Tecumseh, Mich., concerning smoke and truck traffic nuisances caused by the Marion Division plant.

Arguments for Parking Ban

In his arguments for continuation of the parking ban on Church St., and a block long section of Park Blvd., Mayor Robinson presented a letter to Council summarizing results of a study made on the number of accidents and the traffic load on these streets.

Prefacing the summary, the letter contained an explanation of the reasons for the adoption of the plan on a 90-day trial period from February 13 to May 10.

Mayor Robinson wrote that following the widening of Church St. in 1931 nothing further was done until the parking ban to help relieve congestion on the street.

He said the removal of parking from the south side of the street opened an additional traffic lane through the downtown section. This moved more traffic at peak periods and helped eliminate some accidents, he said.

Noting the increase in registered motor vehicles in the city from 9,000 in 1939 to 25,000 this year, he pointed out that restricting parking is not the entire answer to the problem. Also needed are synchronized traffic light controls, proper manpower in the police department, and more interest by the general public, he wrote.

In the summary he reported that accidents decreased 30 per cent on the route from W. Center St. over Park Blvd. to Church St. to S. Grand Ave. This was in comparison with a 10 per cent increase in accidents in the entire city.

Along with the letter he presented an all out war with (Communist) China and against Communism in general." He also observed:

"One often wonders who is the more powerful, President Eisenhower or Sen. McCarthy."

The former prime minister, leader in the Labor party, spoke in a Commons debate keynoted by Prime Minister Churchill's appeal Monday for a conference of world leaders aimed at peace. The Churchill appeal was supported today, in effect, by Pope Pius XII, who called for frank discussions among world leaders as "the first and indispensable condition of peace."

Attlee called for the seating of Communist China on the United Nations Security Council — an action the United States has firmly resisted. Nationalist China holds the seat now, with the veto power.

Prime Minister Churchill intervened to say: "Not while actual fighting (in Korea) is going on.

Attlee replied: "No; soon after the armistice."

Churchill's call for high level talks presumably encompassed himself, Eisenhower and Premier Malenkov.

Wilson Plans to Drop 23 Wings

Budget-Balancing Drive Hits Air Force Hardest

WASHINGTON (AP)—The defense contribution toward a balanced national budget will trim 291,000 from military manpower goals in 13 months, lower Air Force sights from 143 to 120 wings and reduce monthly draft calls to about 25,000.

Secretary of Defense Wilson has pinned these proposed reductions directly to an Eisenhower administration effort to close the gap between federal income and expenditures within two or three years.

The Pentagon boss set forth these and other military economy goals yesterday in supporting his defense budget request for $36,171,288,000 for the year starting July 1—more than five billion dollars under that proposed by former President Truman. His testimony, given in secret, was later made public at the Pentagon.

Wilson said, moreover, that the military forces provided in his reduced budget would be subject to whatever change might be indicated in a full review of the "entire defense picture" in the next few months.

The defense chief told a House appropriations subcommittee he hopes to keep actual military spending to $43,200,000,000 in the next fiscal year, while increasing the acquisition of fighting gear. Truman had recommended spending 45½ billions.

This would entail using some of the 63 billions carried over from past years' appropriations.

Wilson stressed an intention to see that the military services carry out his manpower reduction orders without weakening any combat force or reducing the number of existing fighting units.

The Air Force is the only one of the four fighting services that faces an eventual, measurable cut in units. It now has 103 of the 106 wings called for at this stage in the 143-wing goal set after the Korean War was well under way.

Although he called the 120-wing goal an "interim" one, Wilson pinned Air Force chances of getting more units to changes in the "military situation and the number (of wings) that can be kept modernized and effective."

Wilson maintained that having 114 wings ready for action by June 30, 1954, will represent a "very substantial increase" in Air Force combat strength. The number of planes in a wing varies from 30 bombers to 75 fighters.

While conceding that 10 of the current 103 wings lack their planned modern equipment, Air Force officers said the old Truman program would have given them 133 wings by the end of 1954 and full 143-wing strength by the end of 1955. Against this, they estimated that the nearly 3½ billion dollar cut proposed by Wilson in aircraft procurement will delay reaching even the tentative 120-wing goal until mid-1956.

conference hut Wednesday at 11 a. m.

Clark said the Communist plan had been studied "very carefully." He declined to say when the Allied counterproposal would be laid before the Communists, saying he only used the word "shortly" advisedly.

Although light planes stood by to fly the U. N. commander to the truce camp, Clark stepped into a staff car and presumably was taken to Eighth Army headquarters.

Part of the Red plan suggests that 48,500 North Korean and Chinese prisoners refusing to return home be turned over to a neutral commission for four months, during which time Communist representatives would explain things to them. The fate of those still refusing to return would be decided by a political confrence, the Reds suggest.

Harrison hammered hard at that key point.

"It is obvious," he told the Communists, "that if after the period

College Boys Indulge In Spring Capers

Romping college youth set their books aside on three more campuses last night and joined in the latest of fads—the spring riot.

Students at Yale University, Ohio State University and Michigan State College indicated they were not going to play second fiddle to the spells of nonsense that swept many other campuses last week.

So—Fifteen hundred Yale students pranced through New Haven, Conn., streets, shooting off firecrackers and showering passersby with paper. Two youths were arrested. Six parking meters were ripped from the sidewalks.

One thousand Ohio State collegians raided a Columbus movie theater, pulled down the trolleys of electric buses, flooded streets by opening fire hydrants, and then returned to their books.

Six hundred Michigan State boys staged a panty raid on two women's dormitories on the East Lansing campus. The chief damage was broken windows.

Forrest Moore, member of Baylor University's staff who relayed rescue instructions over a loudspeaker during the all-night rescue work, said "there are a reported 30 to 50 trapped in the basement of the Dennis Bldg.

Ironically, if there were people trapped in the basement they could have escaped the tornado but drowned. Moore said a steel beam had punctured a six inch water pipe and water cascaded into the basement for seven hours.

Belatedly, reports came of a third tornado Monday which raced into Sutton County near Sonora, Tex., and damaged utility poles and cattle-feeding pens. The Texas tornadoes followed week-end midcontinent storms which killed 15.

In Washington, Red Cross national headquarters allotted $200,000 today to meet emergency needs of the Waco and San Angelo tornado victims. More money will be forthcoming as needed, said Raymond T. Schaeffer, national director of disaster service.

Scores of persons were trapped in the Joy Theater but the number killed was unknown. An undetermined number were rescued quickly but early today huge cranes, bulldozers and men with their bare hands dug doggedly at the wreckage.

Two hours before the tornado lashed Waco, a similar storm hit San Angelo, West Texas sheep-raising center.

At least eight were killed and more than 70 injured as the winds flattened homes over a mile-square area and demolished all structures at the San Angelo Fairground.

Scores of school children were reported among the injured in San Angelo, where nearly every window in the Lakeview School was blown out. Teachers at the school were praised for ordering the children into hallways when they saw the storm approaching. More serious injuries and possible deaths were prevented, school officials said.

All of downtown Waco was under martial law. Airmen from Connally Air Force Base, Boy Scouts, police and firemen patrolled in pitch dark streets among rubble several feet deep. Crushed automobiles under the fallen masonry were difficult to identify. Some of the dead were in the vehicles, caught in the 5 p. m. rush period.

Every building in an area roughly 20 blocks square was either destroyed or damaged. Many splintered homes were in the wreckage.

Steel sides of the big Brazos River bridge were sliced as if with gigantic can openers. All of the span's wooden portion was ripped away and what traffic there was crawled slowly over a single track across the naked steel.

Ronnie Murphree, 17, was in Torrance's recreation hall with 25 or 30 other teen-agers when the

Life in the Air

By Hal Boyle

AT A MIDWEST AIRPORT (AP)—A man who travels regularly by air today no longer lives at home. He spends most of his life at airports.

The slogan of the air age is the same as the Army's: "Hurry up and wait."

A fellow might just as well divorce his wife and marry an airplane. You don't have time in one life to wait for both of them to get ready.

The airplane is an instrument of hurry which is supposed to get you from city to city. It doesn't do that at all. It gets you from one reformed cow pasture to another. Then you sit down and wait for your baggage, which supposedly is in the belly of the plane but actually follows by oxcart.

Then, when you and your suitcase are reunited, you borrow a compass and set out for your real destination—the city.

All airports are waystops in futility. They all look exactly alike and have one thing in common—no matter which direction you go from any of them you are bound to get closer to civilization.

The typical airport has a soft-drink machine which is empty, and a pinball machine that is broken but will accept your coin anyway. It has a few hard oak benches, a newsstand with yesterday's papers, and a lunchroom stocked with tidbits left over from the Spanish-American War.

The least they could do is put a widow's walk on the roof, so a passenger could pace back and forth and scan the skies, waiting for his ship to come in.

My theory is that the air age has brought America to the crossroads. Sooner or later we are going to have to choose between living at airport or in cities. The prospct of commercial jet plane travel will probably force a solution. The jets will require airports so distant from any settled place it will no longer be practical to make the journey from airport to city.

SAYS HE WAS. Previously refusing to say, Robert Rossen, Academy Award-winning Hollywood producer, tells the House un-American activities committee in New York that he once was a Communist and that he kicked in $40,000 to Communist causes as a party member from 1937 to 1947. The 45-year-old Rossen, a rabbi's son, said others in Hollywood probably gave as much.

Since the big aluminum sky birds can't adjust themselves to man, I think the man might as well start adjusting himself to them.

It is high time we started gradually deserting our out - of - date cities, and began building new temples of culture around our airports. What good does it do to zip through the air from Chicago to New York in three hours, if a man can watch his fingernails grow while he is trying to get from the airport into town?

Fifty years from now Manhattan, Chicago, St. Louis and Los Angeles probably will be abandoned, crumbling symbols of the past, inhabited by woodchucks and visited only by the more adventurous tourists, willing to undergo any hardship to get a snapshot of a quaint, former way of life.

Yes, sir, the bright new cities of the future will be ringed around the big paved cow pastures where the sky birds nest. The airport will be the city.

The trouble with the air voyager today, stuck at an airport with nothing to do between planes, is that he was born just a half century too soon.

Three Presented Gold Watches at Dinner

Ohio Edison Co. Honors 31 Veteran Employees

Gold watches and pins were presented Monday night to three Marion employees of Ohio Edison Co. by H. J. Grigsby, division manager, in recognition of their 25 years with the utility. Pins were also awarded to 28 employees whose service records ranged from five to 35 years.

The 31 employees were honored at Edison's third annual service award dinner held at the Harding Hotel in Marion. Under this recognition program, each Edison employee who has completed 25 years with the company receives a pin and gold watch. Recognition pins are given to those who have served 5, 10, 15, 20, 25, 30, 35, or 40 years.

Gold watches, symbolizing 25 years of service, were received by William P. Applegett, Frank C. Basford, and Marguerite B. Walton.

The 35-year pins went to Beryl D. Betz and Harry A. Cummins.

A retired employee, Ralph W. Solinger, received a pin for 30 years of service. Other veterans of 30 years are Edgar H. Christman, Ernest R. Daniels, Truman G. Ellinwood, William G. Gallup, Charles L. Haines, Elsie M. Keller, George E. Landon, Karl J. Marble, Harold L. McCurdy.

Edward E. Lash was awarded a pin for his 20 years of service, and J. Richard Andrews received the 15-year award.

Ten-year awards were presented to John W. Jenkins, G. Robert Ulsh, and Homer E. Van Buskirk.

Those receiving five-year pins were Leonard G. Ahmay, Auguste R. Bender, Allen B. Callahan, Howard Cameron, Robert E. Jacobs, John W. Johnston, Laurence J. Kersey, Guy W. Lynch, Roy Mash Jr., James R. Stalder, and Harold S. Walker.

Richwood Garden Club Observes Guest Day

RICHWOOD—The Richwood Garden Club recently observed the spring guest meeting at the home of Mrs. L. J. McCoy.

Members answered roll call by naming the most beautiful flower garden they had ever visited. They introduced their guests and were welcomed by the president, Mrs. A. O. Grooms, who opened the meeting with a poem entitled "May."

The president announced the flower show to be held June 26-27 and named to the committee: Mrs. Myron Miller, Mrs. C. H. Williamson, Mrs. L. E. Wall and Mrs. Harry Sunday. The show will be open to the public. The place will be announced later.

Mrs. Grooms explained the Garden Club is planning to sponsor a civic improvement project for Richwood and appointed Mrs.

Women Voters Set Meeting

"Women, Issues, and Rationality" will be the theme Wednesday evening when the Marion League of Women Voters holds a general meeting in the National City Bank West Town Branch at 8 p.m.

Scheduled for Wednesday's meeting are reports of the state convention, a district legislative conference, and the legislative council.

At the state convention held last week in Toledo, the local league's president, Mrs. Robert Axe, participated in a skit, a medium used by Mrs. Fred Davis of Lima, then state legislative chairman, in making her report. Mrs. Axe played the role of a senator besieged by many demands on his time but still attempting to be at his place in a committee hearing.

Other local league members attending the convention were Mrs. Paul Wolf and Mrs. B. N. Salzman. Reports also will be given on the workshop conducted in conjunction with the convention.

Other matters local league members will consider at the Wednesday session are the three items for the current agenda adopted at the state convention.

The first is a local survey of county government in relation to the laws of Ohio in an effort to determine a solution to existing problems. Second is a study of the organization of the Welfare Department with special emphasis on the mental health position, and for the third item the league re-affirms its belief in the need for improved state government by means of revision of the state constitution of Ohio by means of a long-range program of integrated and progressive change.

Handling the scale is Billy's dad, Harry, who weighs a mere 190. The boy's mother weighed 169 pounds until she became ill two years ago, and now tips the scales at 84 pounds. Billy, who weighed 9½ pounds at birth, maintained normal weight until he was three years old. Then he had whooping cough and ever since he'd been putting on excess pounds. He quit school two years ago in the fifth grade because the school bus—then a two-horse wagon—jarred him too badly.

Mistaken Identity Raises Problem In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Nicholas Davis has returned from his legal grave to taunt authorities with a baffling problem.

About 10 weeks ago Davis, a florist, disappeared from his usual haunts and a few days later a man who died of a fractured skull in a downtown tavern was identified as Davis.

The body was buried in Fernwood Cemetery. Several days later a friend of the florist said Davis has called him from Chicago.

Yesterday Coroner Joseph Ominsky, after talking to Davis' former landlord, who said he had seen and talked to the florist in Chicago withdrew the death certificate issued in the name of Davis.

All of which poses his mystery for authorities:

Who is buried in Fernwood Cemetery?

Mrs. Irving Horowitz of Galion. He is practicing law in Columbus.

Old Harding High Yearbooks Found; Will Be Sold

Some mementos of the past are available at Harding High School for "old grads" who "just didn't get around to" buying a year book during their high school days.

Limited numbers of extra copies of the "Quiver"—some dating back to 1931—were uncovered by student workers while they were packing office equipment, supplies, and yearbooks from the Quiver office for the move to the new Harding High School June 1.

Miss Mary Jo Stafford, faculty advisor to the Quiver staff, said that rather than move the books to the new school building they will be sold to anyone wishing to purchase them.

Altogether there are some 36 "Quivers" on hand—some of them in near perfect condition. Oldest of the lot are four for the year 1931, all in good condition. There are also four 1932 editions, one 1939 edition, five for 1940, ten for 1942 and six each for the years 1948 and 1950.

William Leffler, business manager of this year's Quiver staff, is in charge of disposing of the extra copies.

Noble Experiment: 1953

As Dwight Eisenhower continues his noble experiment of trying to get along with Congress at any cost, one fact stands out:

Harmony in government, like harmony in marriages made in heaven, depends on the disposition of the participants.

President Eisenhower and Congress can get along with each other if both stifle the impulse to override the other.

The President has made news and caused eyebrows to be lifted by stifling his impulse. It remains to be seen whether or not Congress can stifle its impulse, being of many minds about the matter, with Democrats inclined to do more stifling than Republicans.

Since nearly everything about government in this country remains unrevealed in the public system, it is not understood that this issue has been unsettled since the time of George Washington and the First Congress.

Presidents have tried to dominate Congress and presidents have tried to get along with Congress. The two Roosevelts and Woodrow Wilson took the attitude that the function of Congress was to rubber-stamp their ideas: The last chief executive to try to get along with Congress was Hoover, who served one term and was trampled to death, politically.

R. Kenneth Kerr

His fellow publishers and newspaper associates in Ohio and other states will miss R. Kenneth Kerr of Lancaster. Whoever and whenever they were in his presence, they always cherished the privilege.

He was a rare soul—a deft practitioner of the warm art of friendship. It was his greatest pleasure to do nice things for the other fellow.

That was one of the good reasons why he was serving his third term as president of the Ohio Newspaper Association and why he was a past president of the Ohio Select List.

It was one of the good reasons why he stood out in his chosen field—because others sought him out.

Wages of Money

By David Lawrence

New Sound-Interest Rate Means Sounder U.S.

Perhaps because the topic is a technical one, the most significant development in a quarter of a century has passed unnoticed by the general public.

It is a fact that at last the wages of money have finally been awarded an increase.

While wages for almost every form of labor have gone up, the wages of savings — the result of past labor — have lagged.

Most persons do not realize that money earned and saved is entitled to a decent wage. The fruits of labor are as important as labor itself. Otherwise Communism and state socialism prevail and the individual isn't able to save at all.

Today there is a catching up at last on the wages of money. The cost of money to the borrower—known as interest—has gone up. Correspondingly the wages of money to the lender — the income—has gone up, too.

What almost everybody doesn't realize is that the wages of money—the interest rate — has for 20 years been cut down below the true market value of money. This has been done deliberately by a government control policy that ignored the law of supply and demand.

At the same time the income from money hired out for interest has been diminished by the government's requirement that a higher and higher proportion of the income from interest must be taxed.

What is a familiar story to banks and financial institutions generally is overlooked by the average observer — namely that when the government borrows money at a specified rate it has an immediate effect on all other interest rates for other borrowings.

A few weeks ago the government announced it would borrow one billion dollars in cash at 3¼ per cent on a 30 year bond. The offer was oversubscribed.

It wasn't the rise of interest offered on this single billion that was so important by itself but what effect it had and will have on the future of the entire structure of government and private debt involving tremendous sums.

It was tantamount to recognizing that money has been earning too little and that hereafter money would get a better income.

Immediately, for instance, the effect was felt on federal housing loans and mortgage loans generally. Veterans loan interest went up from 4 to 4½ per cent. Interest on government housing loans rose from 4¼ to 4½ per cent.

Immediately a hue and cry the flow of government capital for socialistic enterprises including public ownership projects that are first cousin to the state socialism of either the fascist or Communist type.

But the truth is the step just taken emancipates a vast number of people—the lenders or savers—from the bondage of cheap money and inflation. For when money is made cheap deliberately an artificial boom is created by the government itself and prices of everything go skyhigh.

If one looks at the political side, there are more votes among the lenders than among the borrowers in America. Every owner of an insurance policy or a pension contract in a sense is a lender.

This is because the money that is put out at interest by the insurance companies cannot earn a good income if the rates of interest are too low. The premium charges have to go up, too.

It has been a long time since savings bank deposits earned a decent interest rate. There was a time, too, when most all banks paid interest on time deposits.

In recent years they have not been able to perform the services they used to perform without charge to the small depositor largely because they found that they could not reinvest their deposits and earn a high enough income to pay their expenses and earn a return on the capital they had risked in their institutions.

All along the line the low interest rate has had inflationary results which have damaged the incomes of widows and orphans as well as other persons living on fixed incomes.

So far as increasing the cost for the borrower is concerned, it should not be forgotten that when one pays out interest on any loan this is a deductible item in computing taxes.

A person who pays a 20 per cent income tax rate, for example, would be able to take a 20 per cent deduction on interest paid and would really pay a net rate of 4 per cent although his mortgage is on a 5 per cent basis. When the present high taxes are taken into account, all interest rates still are running at a net cost to the borrower that is much lower than appears on its face.

It is too soon to forecast the full effect of a sound interest rate in America but it is not too early to say that a sounder position for the dollar will mean a sounder America in the long run and a strengthening of the whole investment picture for the individual who

Strange Hook-Up

Eisenhower Among Lilliputians

By Raymond Moley

I often wish I were a cartoonist rather than a commentator in words. (And perhaps my readers share that wish.) For the genius of a craftsman in pictures conveys a profoundly important political fact in a few lines and shades, plus a word or two of text.

Either one of two cartoons would tell what is the trouble with the Eisenhower administration and why people are saying that nothing seems to be happening.

The one would portray the members of the Cabinet in a prison called "bureaucracy," the keys of which are held by a great number of minor job-holders unsympathetic with the President and his advisers.

The other would show the President as Gulliver, bound to the earth

For the most part they don't want this administration to succeed. They are afraid of this economy-minded Congress. But they have learned over the years that slick, subtle way of bureaucracy to smile and serve and still to retard.

My friend, the Cabinet officer, has been able to bring in a handful of appointees. A secretary, a directory of publicity, an undersecretary, and two or three assistant secretaries, but this little band of "top" policy-makers is like a small reef in a mighty ocean.

Policy-making involves two steps the determination of a policy, and then what bureaucrats call "implementation." At the moment the President and his Cabinet and a few other presumably have "policies." But the hold-overs have the "implementation."

All this can be corrected. But it will take time. More important, it will take resolute, perhaps ruthless sacking of hundreds of these lesser officials and the rapid recruiting of able people to take their places.

Unless this is done, the Lilliputians who lost a battle in November will win the war in 1954 and 1956.

More $ Billion Businesses

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Real News Newsreel

Broadway came in for exposures in the Commie hunt last week, with the usual routines — some show-business notables coming clean with no alibis, some coming clean with the claim they were babes in the woods and some taking the usual, "I refuse to answer" way out.

The hardest thing to take from any show-business notable is, "I was just a dupe not hep to the facts of life."

If anybody has to be sharp, smart and wise to all the angles of any given situation it is the fellow who gets far in the entertainment world . . . You can get a punch in the nose for accusing a Broadway figure of being stupid and not knowing where he is going.

Russia and the U.S.A. are not playing tiddlywinks; the stake is freedom, not marbles.

The show-biz suspects who rate applause are the ones who say sincerely and frankly: "When I pull a boner it's a Lulu. I went in with my eyes wide open. I hereby agree to play benefits for any organization or group needing money or support in any drive to show up the Commies who are still performing in the Kremlin act."

A top band leader, who tells the probers he was all at sea in mingling with the Reds, says that to the best of his knowledge he never joined up . . . This would suggest that the orchestra's kettle drums over the years have been very disconcerting. Most folks would remember clearly a matter of that importance, doncha think? Says he was a complete dupe.

We suggest a concert featuring, "Boop Oop A DUPE," "Red Sails in the Sunset," "My Greatest Mistake," "Everybody's Somebody's Fool," "I Didn't Fall; I Was Pushed," "I Didn't Know What Time It Was," and "I Waited a Little Too Long," for all people who adopt the "I didn't know what I was doing" line.

How about a theme song "When DAZE Is Done"?

Dorothy Shaver gave out five $1,000 prizes for the best "nonconforming thinkers." A nonconforming thinker is a fellow who disagrees with a definition of a nonconforming thinker.

Dr. Allen B. Duont says color TV is near. This will give you a chance to determine if the readers of those commercials ever blush with embarrassment, and whether some of those women on the quiz programs are worse or better looking than they now seem.

The cost of health insurance has gone up so high that it makes a fellow sick to think of getting ill.

This Gets Butter All the Time

Some unorthodox accounting has puzzled readers who tried to figure out a recent editorial about 50 million pounds of butter bought by the Department of the Army from the Department of Agriculture.

The editorial said the Department of Agriculture had paid $33,500,000 for the butter under the price-support program and therefore if the Department of the Army bought it for $7,500,000 the taxpayers would have paid out $33,500,000 plus $7,500,000.

Several readers have pointed out that the $7,500,000 would be paid to the Department of Agriculture, not to butter manufacturers, so taxpayers would pay only the original purchase price — $33,500,000. The $7,500,000 would be inside the family — a transfer of funds.

We yield. But the Army will take the $7,500,000 from its appropriation, which comes from taxpayers just like the appropriation for the Department of Agriculture. So unless the Department of Agriculture hands back $7,500,000 at the end of the fiscal year, the butter still will cost taxpayers $33,500,000 plus $7,500,000, won't it?

Nothing to Fight About

This comment was part of a recent British report on partisan politics just before the Coronation:

"The political parties at the moment seem to have entered a period when controversy in our domestic affairs has suddenly become rather flat and dull."

The writer, Geoffrey Cox of London News Chronicle, pointed out that tempers have cooled inside the political parties, too. There are no red-hot arguments. The British counterparts of the Taftites and Eisenhowerites are not bickering. The factionalism which had split up the opposition has healed.

When the Coronation is over, bitterness may be restored as a way of life in Britain, admits Cox. Sir Winston once more may become a target of abuse. But in the meantime, all is serene. The government has ceased to insert its finger in every pie. Controls have been lifted. People who had been fed to the teeth with the snarling and snapping of politicos are pleased with a chance to talk about more important things.

Life in Britain has ceased to be a perpetual emergency and has become an experience for rational men and women, pretty much the same as it has become in the United States recently.

If we were a bank robber we'd appreciate getting caught right away, and not after spending three weeks in a walk-up apartment, eating canned beans, listening to the radio, and arguing with somebody named Louie, the way it always is in the movies.

Ready, Aim, Fire

By TRUMAN TWILL

Readers of this piece seem to like scatter-gun opinions about a dozen subjects, instead of one-shot dissertations.

One reader, voicing what others may think, too, wonders why it wouldn't be as much fun to write about things I like as things I dislike.

It would be as much fun, if people would pay attention. Usually, they prefer to share dislikes. But I like:

Sugar and vinegar on stewed tomatoes, because it's a dandy sweet-sour combination, a la Pennsylvania Dutch.

The firm no-yield upholstering on new automobiles.

Butch haircuts on boys.

The wide-eyed, trusting faces of little kids who have been brought up in an environment of security.

Jugglers on television shows, especially that fellow who pulls back his coat and shows his medals.

Gabardine suits for men.

The easy availability of fruit juices in dehydrated form in those little cans now found in all freezers and refrigerators.

Beefsteak and baked potatoes, with a spatter of grilled mushrooms on the side.

Fluorescent lights in offices and factories.

All people who say I am looking fine and must have some secret of health, especially when I'm feeling terrible.

Colleges which refuse to grind out graduates the way weenie factories grind out weenies.

Dogwood trees in bloom in the fringes of groves.

Dairy cows in green pastures.

A sense of humor in government.

The feel of a faithful dog's cold nose nuzzled gently into a master's sweaty palm when the chips are down.

The all-around efficiency of the electric and telephone companies which do business with my household.

The easy, natural relationship between racial and religious minorities which materializes whenever people quit trying too hard.

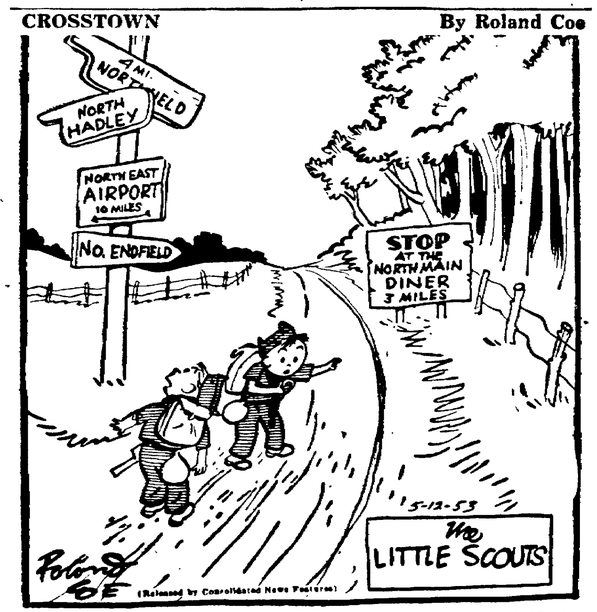
The monosyllabic simplicity of the story-telling in "The Old Man And The Sea."

The all-around good looks and obvious good intentions of the Queen of England and her consort.

The innate good judgment of the majority of Americans about not swallowing whole anything with a hook concealed inside.

The fact they still sell chewing gum for five cents, which is all a gum-chewer needs for all-day rumination.

CROSSTOWN By Roland Coe



"The compass isn't helping much. IT says north is THAT way."

pay Fair Deal Europeans with innumerable stands of material called "facts" and "know-how."

I realized that situation very clearly last week when I called for an interview with a Cabinet officer. It is not important to name him here.

There he sat in a vast and elegant office which was built by the "people's" government of FDR for a favorite commissar.

This Cabinet officer was the chief — still in name only — of a wide domain.

Below him, above him, and around him were long, seemingly endless corridors lined with innumerable doors.

Behind those doors were hundreds of people brought in during the Roosevelt and Truman years, for the most part because they believed in a philosophy diametrically opposed to that for which the people voted in November.

They and their friends would call them "career" men and women, "experts," "nonpartisans," and so forth. True, under the law they have that strange, vague entity called "tenure." The law protects them by a wry twist never anticipated by the Civil Service reformers 70 years ago.

It's in the Cards

When Louis XIV was eight years old, he rebelled against all attempts to teach him history and geography. Finally, a clever tutor won over the reluctant royal pupil by printing his lessons on specially designed illustrated playing cards.

Today, a method of instruction that was fit for a king is gaining recognition because it is ideally suited to the requirements of modern education. Playing cards are employed at home and in schools as valuable visual aids in teaching an amazing variety of subjects.

Designed to enable youngsters to learn by doing — and have fun while they're at it, decks of brightly colored, gaily illustrated cards made exclusively for children.

There are sets of cards for teaching the alphabet, counting color identification, story telling, or animal, bird and fish lore.

Indorsed by leading educators, these cards are used in grade school and kindergarten classes throughout the nation. The cards have been particularly beneficial in schools for the handicapped as a therapy for correcting speech defects.

Social skills are absorbed by youngsters seated around a card table. During the fun and excitement of the game, shyness and feelings of insecurity often vanish, and the most timid child may find himself chattering happily to his playmates.

Children soon become accustomed to the fact that they cannot always win, and learn to accept defeat with good sportsmanship—another lesson that will serve them well in adult life.

Each deck of cards contains a simple instruction sheet giving rules for card games suitable for different age groups. Thirty-six playing cards, imprinted with large, full-color illustrations and jumbo type that appeal to the child's untrained eye, are in every set. A deck of cards of his very own becomes a cherished possession of the average child.

Typical of the card-teaching method is the A-B-C deck, in which each card has a letter of the alphabet on its face, along with a picture of an object beginning with that letter. The remaining cards are numbered from one to 10, and illustrated by a corresponding number of birds.

There are scores of simple games the youngster can play with these cards which will teach him to recognize letters and numbers. Making use of the same principle is a deck of animal, bird and fish cards.

Old favorites like "go fish" and "old maid" appear in modern, more constructive versions, designed to teach color identification and association of objects.

Illustrated versions of classic children's stories are the basis of another colorful set. Assembling parts of each story in proper sequence develops the child's ability to grasp relationships.

NEW YORK (AP)—Billion - dollar businesses are growing — both in size and in number. There are 29 now with assets of one billion dollars or more. Before World War II there were 12. Five joined the list just last year.

The 29 included industrials, utilities and railroads. To these could be added 18 commercial banks, 14 insurance companies and two finance companies topping one billion dollars in assets—but their assets are of a diferent type than those of manufacturing or service companies.

Sixteen of these 29 billion-dollar babies also topped one billion dollars in gross revenues in 1952. Thirteen other companies, whose assets were less than one billion dollars, also turned in better than one billion dollars in sales.

Thirteen of the 29 top giants reported net earnings after taxes of more than 100 million dollars each. No company with assets of less than on billion dollars entered into this charmed earnings group.

The big keep getting bigger, too. In 1951 there were 24 companies in the billion dollar asset class. Their assets totalled around $52,675,000,000. Last year these 24 had increased their total assets to round $53,385,000,000.

But add in the five new comers to the group, and total assets of the 29 become around $58,735,000,000 for a gain of 11 per cent.

Inflation played a large part in boosting the size of assets after the war. Its force was diminished last year, but the great plant building spree of American industry sent the asset total up.

Topping the list of giants is the Bell Telephone System with nearly 10¾ billion dollars. It is twice the size of the next company, Jersey Standard Oil. Other oil companies in the list include, in order of size, Socony-Vacuum, Indiana Standard, Texas, Gulf, California Standard, Cities Service and Sinclair.

Third largest company is General Motors. Ford also belongs in the group, but Chrysler falls just short of the billion dollar mark Pennsylvania Railroad is the fourth largest company. Other rails in the billion dollar group are New York Central, Southern Pacific, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, and Baltimore & Ohio.

United States Steel is the fifth largest company. Bethlehem, in 15th place, is the only other steel.

Other companies in the list include: Du Pont, Pacific Gas & Electric, Consolidated Edison, General Electric, Sears Roebuck, Westinghouse, and Commonwealth Edison.

Nickels, known to the early settlers as "Bad Indian," is said to have been buried along the Whetstone River. Shot from ambush, his death was described by his executioner as follows: After he had come within easy range of my rifle, he stopped and commenced looking all around which enabled me to take a steady aim; I fired, he sprang several feet from the ground with a terrific scream and fell dead. We took his gun, shot-pouch, tomahawk, butcher-knife, etc., and laid them by a log and buried him under the roots of a large tree that had been blown near the foot of the bluff bank of the Whetstone.

More Power, GOP

By Inez Robb

Look who's eating $100 dinners! Republicans, yet! And 4,000 of them, too, right here in New York City alone.

INEZ ROBB

La, how are the lowly risen! No other event in years has so much renewed my faith in the American way and the democratic processes as the recent spectacle of thousands of Republicans sitting down to $100-per plate when, a year ago, they had difficulty in scraping together a 57-cent Truman dollar to pay for the meager box-suppers they held throughout the nation. Let the rest of the world observe this inspiring picture of democracy at work.

-:-

HERE IS PROOF that in this great land of opportunity, nothing is impossible, even for Republicans. One short year ago, the Grand Old Party was eating crow; today, caviar.

This, in microcosm, is the classic Horatio Alger story of "rags to riches," "pluck and luck" and "up and at 'em."

Twelve months ago the Republicans were crying, "better a dry crust with honor than pate de foie gras with mink!" Today the same boys are guzzling bicarbonate of soda with sable.

SUCH ARE the workings of free enterprise and the secret ballot that Republicans, who had a lean and hungry look a year ago, jammed two ballrooms, the Astor's and the Waldorf-Astoria's, at the $100 dinner given last week by the Republican state committee, with President Eisenhower in attendance at both.

This is a far cry from the days when the Republicans had to content themselves with a toothpick and crumbs from the rich man's (Democratic) table.

Malnutrition was the occupational badge of the GOP and a fat man within the party could be expelled merely on suspicion of trading with the enemy.

JUST THINK! Only a year ago the Republicans were virtuously pointing the finger of scorn at the Democrats and the $100 per plate Jefferson Day celebrations, while they—the Gopers—were fasting in the wilderness.

Those were the days—old, but not good—when a Republican celebrated with austerity and a box supper, leanly packed with a lone piece of chicken, a few pieces of dry bread and an apple. And they kept telling the world that dry bread was rich fare when eaten for virtue's cake.

But such are the wonders of the American system. It goes to prove, as the Salvation Army has maintained for years, that a man may be down but never out.

I AM PROUD to be a citizen of a nation in which a party that didn't even have a pot to cook in a year ago is now eating so high on the hog that the animal has to wear Adler elevators. More power to the Republic and the Republicans and let indigestion fall where it may.

And on what are the poor people or the Democrats feasting these days?

Echo answers — On memories and finger nails right up to the third joint.

Chennault Claims Stalin Approved Laos Invasion

Laos was invaded earlier this month by the Communists, who made sweeping gains early in the drive and began withdrawing without explanation.

Inside Labor

Point of No Return

By Victor Riesel

I spoke to Bill O'Dwyer. Very briefly.

After going to considerable trouble to come in from the Mexican beach to his Mexico City Hotel Prince headquarters, the ex-ambassador hung up on me. Seems he's sensitive about discussing his return to the United States to answer the questions of sundry district attorneys.

RIESEL

It appears that the ex-cop, ex-district attorney, ex-mayor, ex-ambassador and expatriate has reached the point of no return. That was his clear indication in the few minutes we spoke.

That—and his bitterness. Everybody is being unfair to him.

Had we talked longer I'd have read to him his statement to the old Senate Crime Committee on the morning of Monday, March 19, 1951.

That morning O'Dwyer turned to the committee chairman and said:

"I need those mikes, senator, because a lot has been said and a lot has been written while my back was turned, and I welcome an opportunity now to look at and talk to not only this committee but the people of this city and elsewhere that are listening."

WELL, the "ambassador," as the international telephone operator would say, can have several sets of mikes now to answer some questions.

A heavy moral guilt falls on him if he does not return.

He is in a position to draw a very accurate—and much-needed—picture of the network linking national crime and politics as it operated in the nation's largest city.

Bill O'Dwyer was an intimate of the indicted AFL Longshoremen's Union chief, Joe Ryan, who apparently still wants to hold on to his racket-filled labor barony.

So close were they that even in O'Dwyer's early days as Brooklyn district attorney, Ryan was a regular visitor at that law enforcement office, if you'll excuse the expression.

William O'Dwyer, as district attorney of a county dominated by Murder, Inc., which used the area to supply "troops" — killers — for friendly loan to the syndicate across the land, sat in the same banquet hall with the nob-waterfront crowd at the Joe Ryan Assn. clambake.

WHEN a grinning Bill O'Dwyer, with the dignity of the big town's mayoralty behind him, left for a vacation in Cuba on Feb. 17, 1949, who do you think saw him off and gave orders that Billy-boy was to be made comfortable? Right the first time, chum. None other than his close friend, Joe Ryan.

We presume that O'Dwyer had a good time, since Ryan was riding high and had influence way up. And Old Joe, still lifetime president of the International Longshoreman's Association, had no reason but to think warmly of good old Bill. Away back, 13 years, scores of murders and something like 4 billions looted dollars ago, an investigation of the waterfront quietly died in O'Dwyer's office.

Testimony of more than 100 witnesses, taken by O'Dwyer's stenographers, was never transcribed. Instead the notes were packed and thrown into the cellar. Furthermore, O'Dwyer never had all these memos read back to him.

And on May 10th, 1940, the district attorney who was to be honored by his nation a decade later with the rank of ambassador, took over vast files from the city's commissioner of investigation and a special investigator.

EXACTLY five days later, according to the sworn testimony of an assistant district attorney before a grand jury, William O'Dwyer ordered a discontinuance of the entire waterfront rackets case. There it lay, until this year—over a decade during which mob terror took more than $350 million a year in loot from the nation's merchants who use the New York Port for international commerce.

While he was mayor, O'Dwyer was handed a special Port Authority report—drawn up at the cost of hundreds of thousands of dollars. It was junked. Yet it might have saved lives, careers, businesses and great injury to all labor.

IT WOULD have wiped out the kind of abuse which started away back in the 30's when dummy racket corporations leased city waterfront facilities for 30 cents a day and re-rented them for $50 per diem.

More recently, the racketeers picked up some public piers for $50 a day and re-leased them for $350 each day. That's good profit. What politico got the cut?

Now the city is in shame. The nation has been looted by these mobs. And the Tobey senatorial committee has a chart to show AFL president George Meany depicting how the racketeers around Ryan dominate much of the union

British Climbers Pushing Toward Summit of Everest

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — The British Mt. Everest expedition was reported today to have established its fifth camp at the 23,000-foot level on the world's highest mountain.

A report reaching here from the expedition's main camp at Namche Bazar said all of the mountaineers were in good health and it was expected the final try to reach the summit of the 29-002-foot Himalayan peak would be made within 10 days.

Senate Considers Emergency Controls

WASHINGTON (AP)—A controversial bill to give the President authority to freeze prices, wages and residential rents for 90 days in the event of a "grave national emergency" comes up for probable Senate action today.

The bill, an extension of the 1950 Defense Production Act, contains no immediate wage and price control authority. The Eisenhower administration has junked all the wage-price ceilings imposed following the start of the Korean War.

Sen. Taft of Ohio, the Republican leader, was prepared to call the measure up for debate as soon as the Senate disposed of a bill to permit congressional committees to trade immunity from prosecution for the testimony of witnesses in investigations.

Marion Man Bound Over In Delaware

Special to The Star

DELAWARE—James Paul McPeek, 39, of 361 Nunin Court, Marion, was bound over to the Delaware County Grand Jury this morning under $2,000 bond after he pleaded guilty before Delaware Common Pleas Judge O. W. Whitney Jr. to a felony charge.

McPeek is charged with stealing six cases of coffee valued at $115 from the grocery storeroom of the U. S. Store, owned by H. W. Kern, of Delaware, on Saturday night. He is being held at the Delaware County jail.

Kern said the six cases of coffee were found in McPeek's car which was parked at the rear of the store in an alley. The discovery was made about 9:30 p.m. Saturday as the store was being closed.

James Kern, son of the store owner, had requested McPeek to move his car which was blocking his exit from a parking place at the rear of the store. Kern said McPeek told him he had been drinking and had parked his car at the rear of the store to avoid encountering police.

After the younger Kern left, an employee saw a man carrying a carton from the storeroom which opened on the parking place at the rear. The store owner investigated and found McPeek sitting in the car with three cases of coffee marked with the store's mailing address in the front seat, and another three cases in the rear. McPeek was held at the Delaware city jail over Sunday until the felony charge was filed Monday morning and his preliminary hearing today.

Kern said a check of the storeroom revealed other cases of coffee were missing, but the exact number could not be ascertained. McPeek had been seen talking to another man in the alley before the discovery of the stolen coffee was made, Kern said.

One More Track Meet on Harding High Schedule

Harding High School's undefeated track squad will play host to Lima South Wednesday afternoon at Harding Stadium. The Prexy thinclads ended their season last week but a mix-up in schedules caused the extra meet.

Late this morning Coach Ken Somerlot was notified by the Lima school it had Harding listed on its schedule. Somerlot said Harding had carried on no negotiations with that school this year. A two-year contract expired last season, he said. However, since Lima thought the meet was scheduled, Harding agreed to oblige. Harding hasn't lost a dual meet in four years.

The Harding baseball team will meet the Lima South diamond squad at Lincoln Park the same day. Somerlot said the Harding - South track meet would be run off as an added attraction to the MAR - DEL League meet. The MAR-DEL League includes Marion's three junior high schools and Delaware's junior high school.

Senate Gets Bill to Double Congress Pay

WASHINGTON (AP) — The touchy question of a $10,000 salary boost for members of Congress has been tossed out for Senate debate, but most lawmakers weren't talking about it publicly today.

Speaking off the record, the position of many of them was: (A) it's wholly justified, but (B) it hasn't got a chance now.

However, one veteran supporter of a congressional pay raise, Rep. McCormack (D-Mass), formerly the House floor leader, said forthrightly:

"I think it's what we're entitled to. I'm for it."

The bill approved yesterday by the Senate Judiciary Committee would give senators and representatives a $25,000 annual salary. They now get a $12,500 salary and a $2,500 expense allowance, which are lumped together as $15,000 of taxable compensation. Up to $3,000 may be deducted for income tax purposes as Washington living expenses.

Tied in with the congressional hikes would be $10,000 salary raises for federal judges and smaller pay increases for U. S. attorneys and their assistants and some of the key assistants to the attorney general.

At the public meeting next Tuesday night, Council must decide whether to continue the present plan, try out a limited parking plan for 90 days, or return to the previous plan of allowing parking on both sides of the street at all times.

The proposal to set aside $6,000 from the general fund to the special fund for possible use as the city's share of a proposal engineering traffic survey to cost some $20,000 also met with some opposition.

Carroll E. Schmidt of 411 Olney Ave. was the most outspoken against the plan. He said Marion has no traffic problem compared Both Harold Fralich, Sixth Ward and Clark voted against this plan. They indicated they took this action because they did not want a repetition of dust clouds resulting from last summer's projects.

Driver Finds Own Truck in Flames On Galion Road

Special to The Star

GALION—After telling another truck driver that his truck had a flat tire, Curtis Irwin of near Sewickley, Pa., turned around to find the cab of his own truck in flames Monday.

Irwin was driving a tractor trailer loaded with steel, just east of Galion, on U. S. Route 30-S, shortly after noon, when he noticed the flat tire on the other truck. He brought his tractor trailer outfit to a stop at the Hi-Hat Club to tell the other driver about the flat tire. When he turned around, he found the cab of his own truck ablaze.

The Galion Fire Department was summoned. Apparently a leak in the gas line caused the blaze, firemen said.

Irwin had to wait until his company, Lattavo Brothers, Inc., of Canton, sent him a new tractor.

Original Prints Of City Traffic Count Reported Missing

Some important documents were reported missing from his papers following Monday night's City Council meeting by Marion Mayor Harold F. Robinson.

The documents were original tracings made by the City Engineer's office of traffic counts made by newly purchased traffic counters at two locations on Church St.

Mayor Robinson said he believes someone may have taken them in the belief they were copies of the police department record of the traffic count.

A number of blue-print copies of this record were given out to persons representing Prospect Street

Lions Hear Vern Miller

Vern Miller, YMCA athletic director, was guest speaker at the weekly meeting of the Lions Club Monday at Hotel Harding. He spoke on the YMCA physical education program for adults.

In his talk, "What's in it for Me," Miller gave a description of the type of physical education program and facilities to be available for men over 30 years of age in the new YMCA building and a summary of the family program which the new building is designed to promote and carry out.

Miller described the recreational trends in the past decade with the major emphasis being directed toward youth. He stated that the YMCA's Athletic Club or Health Club service is a development of the physical education program to meet the needs of men over 30 who live and work under the strains and tensions of business accelerated pace. He said that although the Health Service has many other purposes and popular conceptions, its innovation has been timed to aid the average professional man to artificially slow down when sheer force of will power fails. The Athletic Club or Health Club service, Miller said, is also designed for the man who is no longer interested in engaging in rigorous exercise and desires a less taxing way of getting the benefits of physical exercise.

He described the steam baths, the Ultra-violet light room, special and almost everybody else did too. Then the whole world seemed to fall in.

"After awhile, I pushed away some brick and stuff from around the table and crawled out. I was right near the side door. When I got up on top, I looked around and then I saw this awful, awful mess."

How many were trapped inside the building and how many of them were alive were moot questions. One was 17-year-old Donald Hansford. He was trapped but still alive and talking to his father, one of the frantic scores tunneling through the debris to reach him.

Most of the debris had landed on the table under which Donald had dived. His legs were caught.

"My ankle's numb," he said. "I think I've got a broken leg."

"Don't go to sleep," the father said. "I won't let you go to sleep."

It was young Hansford who said there were 25 to 30 persons in the wrecked recration hall. He was a star football player last season at La Vega, Tex., high school.

In Washington, the Red Cross said information from its field offices indicated 198 houses were destroyed in San Angelo with 164 others badly damaged. Mobile canteen units of the mercy organization were feeding rescue workers.

A jeep owned by Dick Isaly of Chelsea Ave. was slightly damwhen someone pushed it against a car owned by Dr. F. A. Stengel of 142 S. State St. in an alley beside the Twin Sandwich Shop Tuesday at 12:50 a.m.

They were arrested today about 3 a.m. on W. Church St.

Some senators said privately they thought the congressional boost was being offered under good auspices.

They cited these: It is bound up with an increase for federal judges which many lawyers long have urged; 1953 is not an election year; the bill's sponsor, Sen. McCarran of Nevada, is a Democrat, which takes some of the heat off the new Republican majorities in Congress.

But against this, these sources said many members are sure to look askance at the bill because of the economy promises made by many membrs.

"I don't think it's timely," said Sen. George (D-Ga), who added he thinks members of Congress are underpaid.

McCarran, who introduced the bill and headed a subcommittee which held hearings on it, said the measure would not be called up for debate right away.

"I want senators to have some time to think it over," he said.

The Coast Guard, still checking the list of crewmen, said there were 16 known survivors, 10 bodies recovered, and five men still unaccounted for. The death list was being held up pending the arrival of a third rescue vessel, the Clemson, at Sault Ste. Marie later today.

of a group of rioting Ohio State University students who raided a movie, flooded streets and set bonfires in the campus area Monday night and early this morning.

Ross said several other students who took part in the "spring fever" demonstration also face disciplinary action.

Some 1,000 students were involved in the demonstration which lasted four hours and included an abortive raid on Baker Hall, a women's dormitory.

Ross said the students failed to gain entrace to the dormitory because doors were locked in anticipation of a raid. He said the only damage reported was a broken window and a wooden fence which was torn down and used as kindling wood for a bonfire in the middle of one of the streets off the campus.

to some other cities of similar size. He said he felt hiring traffic engineers to make such a survey is "foolish when we have men here in Marion who could do the job."

Don Quaintance, Fifth Ward councilman, said he believed such an expenditure would be a bargain investment for the city.

With the Chamber of Commerce to raise some $12,000 of the total cost and the Marion County Commissioners to supply $2,000, the cost to the city would be small compared to the possible benefits, he said.

Federal and state aid for grade crossing elimination, by-pass route developments and other improvement projects can not be granted unless the city has a "master plan," he said. The traffic survey would have as its objective the development of this "master plan" for Marion and the area immediately around the city limits, he added.

Councilman Thomas H. Clark, atlarge, said also that this survey would break down the overall plan into separate projects. With the first of these projects actually placed under construction costing a total of more than $20,000 the city would get its $6,000 back from the federal and state governments, he said.

Robert G. Haldeman, councilman at large, took up the statement made by Schmidt and said he felt that there is no one in Marion qualified to solve the problem. He said that everyone has an ideal solution to the problem, but if a dozen people present their solutions there are as many different plans.

Following the vote to set aside the $6,000, Quaintance explained that this does not mean the expenditure is authorized. Before the money may be spent other legislation must be passed authorizing the expenditure, he said.

Two Lights Deleted

The resolution authorizing Safety-Service Director Ralph E. Forrest to locate traffic control devices in school zones was passed after two of the proposed lights were deleted from the resolution. Authorized lights will be located at Bellefontaine and Olney Aves., E. Mark and N. Greenwood Sts., and Mt. Vernon and S. Grand Aves. Those deleted were proposed for E. Center St. and Pennsylvania Ave. and Latourette and Bennett Sts.

The ordinance authorizing Forrest to advertise for bids and enter into contracts for surface treating various streets and alleys did not list any of them. Forrest explained this would be the same type of treatment used on various streets last summer. This means the surface of the street is covered with an oil and asphalt emulsion over which crushed lime stone is spread. Forrest explained that legislation will be brought before Council for approval for each street to be treated before contracts for that case at the next meeting on May 25.

Leasing of an area of the Veterans Housing Project for use of Little League Baseball for use as a ball diamond was tabled until such time as the city receives a description of the area from the Federal Government. The city is negotiating for purchase of about one-half of the housing project from the government on which the ball diamond is to be located.

Sewage Rates

The tabled ordinance setting a new rate to be charged the Baker Wood Preserving Co. for treatment of sewage called for changing the rate from a flat $50 a month fee to 16 cents per 1,000 gallons treated. Council decided to study this further to determine if this meant an increased or decreased fee for the company.

First printed loose leaf copies of the new codification of city laws was sent to the Municipal Service Committee and Solicitor George Piacentino for study and approval, additions, deletions or other changes.

The letter to Tecumseh Steel Products was addressed to Ray Herrick and was drafted by a committee headed by Haldeman.

It asked the company for cooperation in the elimintion of fly ash and smoke from the Marion Division plant which "is most distressing to the people whose homes" are located nearby.

The letter noted also that "It appears this plant may be enlarged considerably and that perhaps a new power plant would be constructed. Such action would be most welcome and would certainly solve the smoke problem."

It asked that the company send a representative to Marion to discuss the problem of truck traffic to and from the plant. The letter also complimented the company for the manner it has conducted operations in Marion.

Haldeman also reported on progress made by a committee appointed to study the truck traffic problem on S. Prospect St. He said only that the committee contacted the State Highway department and learned that Sawyer Road would be subject to federal and state aid in any widening and strengthening project to by-pass traffic off S. Prospect St. and that Bark's Road is also usable as a by-pass route.

The invocation was given by the Rev. R. W. Faulkner of Calvary EUB Church.

All councilmen were present for the meeting.

At about the same time Monday morning, Judge Paul D. Smith informed the grand jury of Carhart's letter and suggested an investigation be made of gambling in the county.

Carhart said today he does not know whether or not the grand jurors are planning such an investigation, but indications are that one is planned.

Chocolate Praline Cake, Coffee for Guests

Home-made cake and coffee have a special place in our affections and is traditional fare for the feeding of friends. If your preference is for a cake that is rich but not cloying, tasty but not too sweet, then you'll want to consider this chocolate praline cake.

The ingredients for the cake, frosting and trimming were chosen on the basis of their affinity for one another and the result is simple, elegant and decorative. Whether you need a dessert that can be served with coffee and lingered over for a long time, or an impressive mid-afternoon coffee-break snack, chocolate praline cake is the delicious answer.

CHOCOLATE PRALINE CAKE

Ingredients: 4 eggs, 2 cups sugar, 1 cup melted shortening, 2 teaspoons vanilla extract, 4 squares unsweetened chocolate, 2 cups sifted enriched flour, 1 teaspoon baking soda, 1 cup milk.

Method: Beat eggs; add sugar; blend. Add melted shortening, and vanilla extract. Melt chocolate over hot water; add. Mix and sift flour and baking soda; add alternately with milk to chocolate mixture. Bake in 2 greased and floured 9-inch layer cake pans in moderate oven, 350 F., 35 to 40 minutes.

Praline Frosting: In top of double boiler, put 1 cup sugar, 1 cup brown sugar (firmly packed), 2 egg whites, 6 tablespoons water. Cook over boiling water 7 minutes, beating constantly with rotary beater. At the end of this time, frosting should hold its shape.

If it does not, continue cooking and beating a minute or two longer. Remove from heat; add 2 teaspoons vanilla extract. Spread between layers and on outside of cake. Garnish with pecan meats.

One Calls Her "Speaker of the House"

Why "Just a Housewife?"

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Why is a married woman "just a housewife?"

This is a question that, it seems, has been infuriating much of the feminine population of the U. S. A. for many years.

This column recently reported a conversation with TV star Garry Moore, in which he invited women to suggest a new name for housewife.

The innocent Garry didn't know what he was starting. He had to hire two girls just to take care of the avalanche of mail, which filled one whole room in his spacious domestic scientist.

Garry preferred the term, "versatilly," but appreciated the viewpoint of a wife who wrote that she thought the best plan was simply to refer to herself and her sister housewives as "the pooped ones."

The whole thing ended, of course, with nobody being able to decide on a really perfect substitute for the term, so it looks as if we'll all just go on being called housewives, and like it.

Marion Area Students To Attend ROTC Camp

Two Marion area students will attend the Reserve Officers Training Corps summer camp at Fort Knox, Ky., June 14 to July 25.

They are Cadet Lt. Col. Robert L. Hoffman, 1000 Bellefontaine Ave., and Cadet Capt suite of offices.

Letters came from every state in the Union as well as from Belgium, England, Germany, France and Holland.

Given a chance to let off steam, the girls were explosive. High time, they said, that somebody recognized the slur inherent in the phrase "just a housewife." Actually, they pointed out, being a housewife is one of the world's most complicated jobs, requiring a degree and variety of talents that would lead to fame and fortune in the business world.

The most frequently suggested substitute term was "homemaker," closely followed by "home supervisor" and "chairman of the board."

One husband wrote that the most appropriate phrase he could think of was "Speaker of the House." Another, in the Navy, said he always refers to his wife as "first mate."

From Europe came the suggestion "managere," which is a French term for girl manager.

A letter from Great Notch, J. J., suggested "celestial druge" and a wit from Idaho thought the most descriptive term would be "spousekeeper."

A weary wife from Ohio suggested "home gnome" and another, evidently in a self-pitying mood, said all housewives should be called "angels of the earth."

Other suggestions included: Kitchen cynic, Jacqueline of all trades, domesticapable, chateau guardian, secretary of the interior, practical engineer, homologist and

To Attend ROTC Camp

Marion area estudents who are members of the AFROTC unit at Ohio Wesleyan University are among 209 Air Force ROTC detachments in the United States, Puerto Rico, and Hawaii that will attend summer camps. The sixty Air Force bases capable of handling the camps are primarily located in the South and Southwest. Last year 11,476 students took part in the summer encampments at 59 campsites. The summer camp is a required part of the four-year Air Force ROTC course and must be completed before a commission is granted. Usually the camp is attended by the students between the junior and senior years.

Cadets from Marion are Harry Dowler of 196 S. Greenwood St., who will report to Lawson Air Force Base, Ga., Donald Hoffman of Caledonia, and Danny Butler of Mt. Victory, O., who will report to Keesler Air Force Base, Miss., and Craig Air Force Base, Ala., respectively.

CROWN CAVALCADE — The PREDECESSORS of ELIZABETH II

No. 20: Henry VIII. Ruled England and Ireland 1509-1547.

Henry VIII on his throne in Parliament, and his autograph.

Born: 1491, second son of Henry VII. A fortnight before his coronation, he wed Catherine of Aragon, widow of his elder brother Arthur. She was the daughter of Ferdinand and Isabella, sponsers of Columbus' voyages. Two decades later, Henry's determination to replace Catherine with the younger Anne Boleyn through divorce, culminated events which separated the Church of England from the authority of Rome. Then, having thrown off restraints, he married five more times (six in all). He had two of his wives executed.

Henry VIII was a staunch observer of the custom of keeping professional fools and jesters [↑] in his palaces. The court fool was a slapstick clown, the jester a wit. [←] Three of Henry's six wives — Anne Boleyn, Jane Seymour, Katherine Howard.

Making Good on Promises

Major GOP Problem

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—The dilemma which the Eisenhower administration faced from the moment it took office was how to make good on its campaign promises of economize very shrewdly, cutting here and there, weakening nothing essential, and even improving efficiency.

From the beginning, the obvious targets for economy were in military spending and money for foreign aid, since between them they accounted for more than two-thirds of the money needed to run the

Time will show whether this is so. It is also possible the president has information leading him to believe it's safe—because Russia can't or won't attack—to cut down on defenses or at least slow them down and stretch them out.

If he has such information, Eisenhower hasn't disclosed it publicly. Even if he's basing his thinking on such information, he may be taking a gamble on national security.

Truman and his secretary of defense, Louis A. Johnson, were trying to be great economizers in the early part of 1950. Russia was an annoyance, but experts were saying Russia couldn't have an atomic bomb for four or five years.

And Johnson made grandiose statements about this country's ability to retaliate against any aggressor in a hurry. Between them Truman and Johnson created a cozy national feeling.

Then the egg broke with the Communist attack in Korea and this country suddenly discovered it was hardly able to handle even a small war.

That was the moment security came first and economy went out the window. The big spending on this country's own Army, Navy and Air Force and on aid for allies really began.

The cuts which Eisenhower proposes, in military expenses at least, won't begin to be felt until 1955 and after because of the difference between appropriations and expenditures.

This Congress will appropriate money for the 1954 fiscal year beginning July 1 although not all the money thus voted will be spent in the 12 months between July 1, 1953, and June 30, 1954.

When the money has been appropriated the military can make contracts in fiscal 1954 for materials and weapons and planes to be delivered and paid for in subsequent years, just as the military this year is paying for materials ordered out of money appropriated and authorized in previous years.

For fiscal 1954 Eisenhower asked about 36 billion dollars for the armed forces, or $5,200,000,000 less than Truman requested. However, the actual savings on spending in 1954 will be only $2,300,000,000. For foreign aid Eisenhower asked $5,800,000,000 or $1,800,000,000 less than the Truman request.

Military spending thus won't be very much smaller in 1954. The cuts will begin to show later, since the armed forces, knowing how much less money they can rely on, will have to order and spend less for later years.

It's a problem which will probably ride on President Eisenhower's back until the day he leaves office unless, in the meantime, there is some marvelously peaceful settlement with Russia, making big armaments unnecessary.

Eisenhower and his assistants, after working on this since last January, have found ways to whack out some of the money former President Truman thought should be spent on this country's defenses and aid for its allies.

FEPC Bill Up For Vote In Ohio House

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)— The Ohio House votes today on a bill by Rep. William S. Burton (R - Cuyahoga) to require fair employment practices in Ohio.

The bill, similar to a measure which passed the House but bogged down in the Senate during the 1951 session, is based on the Cleveland FEP plan.

It provides a state FEP director shall receive complaints of alleged discrimination. If he is unable to resolve the differences, the complaints would be turned over to a board in the county in which the complaint originated. The board's orders, in turn, could be appealed to the courts.

House approval is likely.

The House passed Monday a bill calling for a survey to end the legislative battle every two years over school finances. It approved, 121-1, a measure by Rep. William L. Manahan (R-Defiance) setting an Ohio School Survey Committees. The bill goes to the Senate.

It provides for an 11 - member committee to study the school foundation program and Ohio laws and report a solution to the Legislature by Dec. 15, 1954. It carries an appropriation of $75,000 to hire experts for the study.

The House also passed and sent to the Senate a bill by Rep. Don Campbell (R - Athens) to prevent breweries from adding distributor branches. It does permit breweries to sell their own beer directly in areas where they can make deliveries. But in areas where warehousing would be required, he explaned, distributors would handle it. The aim, he said, is to prevent breweries from crowding out distributors and creating monopolies. Vote on the bill was 82-49.

The Senate passed and sent to the House a bill by Sen. Ralph L. Humphrey (R-Ashtabula) continuing for two more years relaxed rules on working conditions and hours for women and minors. The proposal is the same as a bill first passed during the manpower crisis of World War II.

French Star With Ice Cycles

One of the skating stars who will be seen in the 1953 Ice Cycles which opens in Marion May 20 is French star, Raymonde duBief, who brought a novel idea in ice skating to America.

She took to the ice when only eight years old and a short while later decided to make a career on the silver blades. Realizing a career could not be advanced without proper instruction by experts, Raymonde decided to study ballet first and then get the proper tutoring on the ice.

Being proficient in toe dancing she hit on the idea of using ballet slippers on ice skates in place of the usual high laced boots—an almost unbelievable idea due to the fact that in skating the ankles need the added support. But she had developed her ankles to a point where they did not require the support most skaters need.

She found a manufacturer who could make such a pair of skates and ballet slippers, the French beauty again took to the ice. She turned professional in 1949 and immediately received contracts for appearances in France, Belgium, Germany and Sweden. When her sister, Jacqueline, was crowned World's Figure Skating Champion and received a contract to come to America with Ice Capades, she was signed to a similar contract with Ice Cycles.

She makes her appearances in "Gypsy Gold" and "Birds of a Feather," two of the nine big productions in Ice Cycles which features Walt Disney's "Cinderella."

Report Jap Ship Sunk By U.S. Bombs

TOKYO (AP)—U. S. Air Force headquarters said four American Thunderjet fighter - bombers jettisoned their bombs at almost the exact place and time an unidentified ship reportedly exploded and sank today.

The Air Force said the Thunderjets dumped their bombs in the sea approximately 38 miles southeast of Misawa Air Force Base between 5:40 and 6:20 a. m.

A Japanese farmer said at approximately 6:20 a. m. he saw an unidentified ship of about 3,000 tons blow up one mile off the village of Samuraihama, 36 miles south of Misawa.

Far East Air Forces headquarters said the area was a restricted bombing range set up by agreement with the Japanese government. It said maritime craft enter the area at their own risk.

"The Air Force has been unable to confirm reports that a Japanese fishing boat or other craft was present in the area at the time the bombs were dropped," the Air Force said. "An SA16 (amphibian) rescue aircraft from a U. S. Air Force rescue unit in Northern Japan searched the area during the day but found no confirming evidence of the reported bombing."

An Air Force officer said it was possible the Japanese farmer saw a geyser from the last bomb explosion.

Three Japanese patrol boats searched the area but did not report sighting wreckage or survivors.

The Air Force said the four F84 fighter-bombers of the Japan Air Defense Force were on routine training maneuvers. They abanboned a scheduled training target due to weather and dropped their bombs from an altitude of 8,000 feet in clear visibility.

Prior to jettisoning their bombs, the Air Force said, the pilots checked to see if the water below was clear of vessels.

The newspaper Asahi quoted one witness as saying the ship was maneuvering violently in an apparent attempt to escape, and another as saying the ship sank about five minutes after a column of black smoke boiled up.

Fate of Pool To Be Decided At Meeting

Merits of Bond Issue And Fund Campaign Will Be Discussed

The fate of the proposed Marion community swimming pool will be decided by public opinion at a meeting to be called in the near future, according to Marshall Browne, publicity chairman.

Discussion of whether or not to put the community outdoor pool on a bond issue or to organize a drive for contributions took place at the Thursday night meeting of the Marion Community Recreation Center in the Moose Hall. Opposition to placing the pool project on a bond issue was voiced by the Teen Club, Marion teenagers who first banded together to fight for the pool.

The following is a letter written by members of the Teen Club:

"Dear Citizens of Marion:

"We, the teenagers of Marion, do not feel that you have been fully informed as to our intentions concerning the community swimming pool project.

"From the beginning, we have intended for this to be a swimming pool to accommodatte all ages. It is to be operated on non-profit basis, under the supervision of the Marion Recretaion Cetner and the money for this project to be raised by subscription from the people of Marion.

"We do not feel that you want this on a bond issue, but some organizations have expressed their desires as such.

"We would like to have you voice your opinions at the adult meetings, which are held on special Thursday nights at the Moose Lodge Hall. The newspaper will inform you of the next meeting and you are welcome to attend as a citizen of Marion.

"We need your cooperation and welcome your opinions.

Yours truly,
The Teen Club,
Jean Dixon, President."

Investigation of operation costs of the proposed pool is being carried out this week. Letters will be sent to 10 or 15 other cities, approximately the same size as Marion, inquiring about their community swimming pools and operational data.

When information has been gathered, a city-wide meeting will be called and the data given out at the session, Browne said. Cost of putting the pool project on a bond issue and a method of carrying out a contribution drive will be compared, and public opinion will decide what will become of the pool project.

The preliminary architectural rendition of the pool drawn up for the center, would accomodate 1,000 persons per day. Costs of approximately $175,000 were expected to be slashed in half by labor, materials and services being contributed by Marionites. The T-shaped pool would be 80 by 165 feet in dimensions and would feature a roped-off diving area, wading pool for small children and bathhouse facilities.

SYCAMORE — Several quadruple births have been reported recently in the sheep world, but according to Paul Minter, a Sycamore farmer, a ewe in his flock has another claim to fame.

She not only gave birth to four lambs but they came in pairs and six days apart.

Minter was able to be sure of this as the mother attempted to disown the first pair and she was shut in a small pen in an attempt to make her change her mind and on the sixth day she produced two more healthy lambs.

Sen. Fulbright Sees Merit In Big 3 Talks

Asks "Horse Sense" Approach Under U.S. Leadership

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) called today for U. S. leadership—"with some good horse sense"—to arrange cold war peace talks with the Russians.

Fulbright, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he sees merit in the suggestion of Britain's Prime Minister Churchill that "highest level" leaders of the big powers should undertake to talks things out.

"I think we ought to promote such discussions," Fulbright said in an interview. "We should use a horse sense approach, with restraint in our public statements, and caution in what we do."

He said he would underscore a warning against overoptimism as to the results but that "unless we are to believe that war is inevitable, we ought to try.'

There was no official comment from the White House or the State Department on Sir Winston's suggestion, made in Parliament yesterday. But administration officials privately gave the idea no encouragement in the absence of concrete evidence that the Kremlin is looking for real peace.

President Eisenhower has said he would meet the Russians halfway in any effort to achieve easing of East-West tensions, but he has challenged them to give some concrete evidence of their sincerity.

Republican leaders in the Senate received cautiously Churchill's cautioning against an attitude that "nothing can be settled unless or until everything is settled."

"That's for Ike to settle, not me," said Sen. Taft of Ohio, the Senate Republican leader, when asked about his views.

Sen. Wiley (R-Wis), the foreign relations committee chairman, declaring "I can see no particular harm in it," emphasized to newsmen that neither could he "see much good that could result unless there is definite and genuine indication by the Kremlin that they mean business."

Peiping Radio Beams Alleged Voice of POW

TOKYO (AP) — Radio Peiping in Communist China today broadcast a message it attributed to an American held as war prisoner.

The message, monitored in Tokyo by radio press, was purportedly from Cpl. Andrews Fortuna, who addressed his message to his aunt, Mrs. Ruby Evans, 408 First St., Portsmouth, O.

Fortuna said "I am getting along very good . . . now weigh more than I ever did."

Water Supply Experts Find Job Tougher

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Dishwashing machines, garbage disposals and other kitchen gadgets have thrown off all the consumption estimates of American water supply experts.

President-elect Morris B. Cunningham brought that out here at a meeting of the American Waterworks Association.

"With new and unexpected uses for water developing every year, cities no longer can rely on normal increases of population in planning future water supply," said Cunningham, who is superintendent of the Oklahoma City water works.

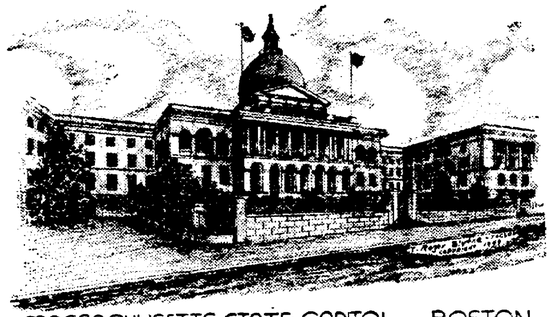
"Know Your Capitols"...



MASSACHUSETTS STATE CAPITOL BOSTON

The hill on which the State House stands was originally called Tri-mount, later changed to Sentry hill when used as a lookout, and after the erection of the Beacon in 1634-35, received the name of Beacon Hill. The corner stone of the Bulfinch front was laid July 4, 1795. Extensions of the Capitol were built in 1889-1905. Construction of the East and West wings was completed in 1916. Spread out in front of the State House are the nearly 50 acres of the Boston Common in the very heart of Boston, green and lovely, just as it was back in Emerson's boyhood days. The Capitol of Massachusetts is located in the historic city of Boston, the oldest large city in the United States. Boston was founded in 1630 by a chartered company of English Colonists under the governorship of John Winthrop. The Capitol houses among other historic rooms the gallery of battle flags, historic Cod fish, and paintings and statuary by noted artists. Massachusetts was the 6th of the Original Thirteen States to join the Union, February 6, 1788. State flower, Mayflower, or Trailing Arbutus. Area of State, 8,266 square miles, 44th in size.

HEAR AT LAST

This miss is exclaiming over a transistor, the tiny electronic discovery that may change our world. Used to benefit the hard of hearing for the first time, it has resulted in the smallest Sonotone in history. The heart of the transistor is a minute speck of germanium. The device uses much less electrical power than a vacuum tube, slashing battery costs for hearing aid users. One of the batteries used with the new Sonotone will last over six months.

For details of this new development, just call or write Sonotone of Marion, 207 S. Prospect St., Marion. Phone 2-1536. No obligation.

Hitchhiking In India Is Not Recommended

Easy to Get Lift But It's Slow, Ex-GI Reports

By SELIG S. HARRISON

NEW DELHI (AP) — An ex-GI thumbing his way back home from Korea has advice for globetrotters -don't try to hitchhike across India.

"Everybody picks you up, but how fast can you travel on ox carts?" asks ex-Cpl. Lee Gotzlinger, 24, of Youngstown, O.

"You stand for six hours along a road 10 feet wide, with monkeys for company, but not even any cows to ride. You get tired of bananas, oranges, and sugarcane juice."

Gotzlinger, in an interview, said he and ex-Pvt. Alfred Evans of Beechhurst, N. Y., got special permission from Gen. Mark Clark to return to the U. S. the long way. They hopped a freighter at Kobe, Japan, Feb. 28, and reached Calcutta a month later after one free air passage and two cut rate hops.

They separated in Calcutta. Evans sped through Delhi weeks ahead of Gotzlinger, who looked over Calcutta and the Holy City of Benares among other Indian centers, enroute to the capital.

Gotzlinger left Japan with $830 in his pocket and had $620 when he reached Delhi. He said a battered map of India showing the "Grand Trunk Highway" from Calcutta all the way to mountainous Kashmir led him astray.

He had visions of "maharajahs riding along by the dozen to Kashmir." He came down to earth when he got off a bus on the outskirts of Calcutta and found the beginning of the grand trunk only a lane filled with cattle.

He finally wangled a ride with a police car escorting the prime minister of West Bengal state on an inspection tour. That took him to a village where he spent his first night on a straw cot, "just like the Army."

Hitchhiking and sightseeing from Calcutta to Delhi, Gotzlinger resorted to trains and buses twice. The first time came when he discovered the grand trunk stopped dead at a river bank.

At the famed Taj Mahal, at Agra, he went to the edge of the Jumma River behind the marbled monument to see if turtles really fed on dead human bodies "as it says in 'lives of the Bengal lanc-

Key to Asia

By George Sokolsky

During the entire period, from 1939 to 1953, it has been American, British, and French policy that Europe must come first. Even during World War II, Gen. Douglas MacArthur left without adequate munitions because Europe came first. Even during the Korean War, our own troops were inadequately supplied because of the aid given to Europe.

SOKOLSKY

Yet, Asia holds the central spot and all the decisions of the great statesmen make no difference whatsoever. The course of events determines that the center of our world is that ancient continent.

-:-

ASIA'S vast hordes of humanity have surged forward or have been held in servitude with the swing of the pendulum of history. This has been true in the past — whether free or conquered, the Asiatic peoples never associated their cultures with their governments. Therefore, when conquered, they retained, nurtured and preserved their indigenous cultures.

Thus, in every Asiatic country, traditional roots remain deep and dominate the minds and character of the people, irrespective of the externals of immediate political and economic conditions. It is not at all surprising that all the surviving religions of the world are Asiatic in origin.

Whether one speaks of China or India or Pakistan or any other Asiatic country, one recognizes peoples whose central point is not things but an eternal, endless, purposeful life related to God, each of these peoples conceiving his God differently but always to one end — the ultimate perfection of the spirit of man.

THERE IS a negativeness in Asiatic life. Today passes, but life never passes. Lao Tze might be quoted in Witter Bynner's profoundly beautiful translation:

Man at his best, like water,
Serves as he goes along:
Like water he seeks his own level,
The common level of life,
Loves living close to the earth,
Living clear down in his heart,
And for blocking no one's way
No one blames him.

Life in the West is never conceived as leaving so much to fate, but the Asiatic cannot fear death, because to him it is always part of life.

The result of such a passive view was better evidenced in the theories and practices of Gandhi, which somehow did bring about the liberation of India, than in the westernized ideas and practices of Sun Yat-sen, which succeeded in bringing to the Chinese people enslavement.

WE AMERICANS, face Asia now as our principal problem.

Our sons have died in so many parts of Asia. They are still in Korea and Japan; we must defend the Philippines; we are moving rapidly into Indo-China; we are supporting the British in Malaya. And on the other side of Asia, we are deeply involved in the affairs of Iran, Saudi Arabia, Israel, etc.

To understand these peoples, we cannot apply Western criteria or we shall fail with them altogether, as we have already failed after more than a century of experience in China.

It is not things, motion, action, force, power that appeal to the Asiatic mind. It is contemplation upon cosmic ideas, upon what is man and what is his relationship to the universe and to the creative God, who, as some Asiatics believe and some do not, directly dominates everything that happens.

THE RUSSIANS have with great skill thrown Marxism into this realm of ideas.

We, Americans, have described things, their production, their wealth to peoples who accepted a beggar, a camel driver, a child born in a manger as prophets or even as a manifestation of God.

Poverty has never been a crime or a sin in Asia; it might be a visitation of God.

This needs to be understood, for we are losing a war without fighting because we are thus far not prepared for victory which can only be won by ideas.

Asia can resist a conqueror endlessly and make of his conquest a despair if the people believe he has the wrong ideas. If they believe the ideas are not wrong, why should they resist a mere political change?

Cars Collide In Lykens

Driver of One Suffers Lacerations

Cars driven by Lorance D. Wheeler, 57, of Fremont, and Wayne D. Zeiter, 23, of Bloomville, collided at 6:20 p.m. Monday on Route 19, in the village of Lykens, north of Bucyrus, according to state highway patrolmen from the Marion post.

Wheeler told the patrolmen he had just driven past a pedestrian who was crossing the street and that his car veered over to the left side of the roadway. Zeiter attempted to avoid a headon collision by driving to the left side of the road, but Wheeler drove back into the lane and the cars collided almost headon.

Zeiter suffered a laceration above the forehead and right eyelid, but was not treated. The left front fender, bumper, grille and headlight of the Wheeler car received moderate damage, while the Zeiter car had minor damage to the right front fender, headlight and hood.

At 4:20 p.m. on U. S. Route 30-N at the intersection of Route 231, a car driven by Gordon G. Goodwin, 38, of Toledo, veered off the right side of the roadway, overturned once or twice, returned to the highway and crashed off the left side of the road into a utility pole. The pole, owned by the Ohio Power Co. of Upper Sandusky, was broken.

Goodwin was taken to Wyandot Memorial Hospital at Upper Sandusky by a Bringman and Co. ambulance. He suffered a bruised forehead, lacerated right leg and back injuries. His car was practically demolished.

Goodrich Sues Firestone Over Tubeless Tire

CLEVELAND (AP)—A battle over tubeless tire patents shaped up in Federal Court today between two Akron rubber companies.

B. F. Goodrich Co. filed a lawsuit Monday, accusing Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. of using Goodrich patents on manufacture and sale of tubeless tires.

Goodrich asked an injunction against the alleged infringement and demanded that Firestone be ordered to pay it three times the amount of whatever damage is determined.

Firestine officials asserted it had developed its own tubeless tires and declared the Goodrich claims were "pretentions."

NEW YORK (AP)—Lethargy gripped the stock market again today and prices barely budged from previous levels.

The trading pace held right around that of Monday which was the slowest of the year. Among leading issues, price changes were measured in a few cents a share.

Trends were lacking in nearly all sections of the list.

Depressed at times were American Smelting, Anaconda Copper, Kennecott, U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Boeing Airplane, Westinghouse Electric, Standard Oil, (N. J.) and Paramount Pictures.

Holding small advances were United Aircraft, Chrysler, Goodrich, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Santa Fe, General Electric, Air Reduction and Johns-Manville.

Cleveland-Yankee Fight Tops Agenda in Major League

Ford, Raschi Tabbed As Stengel's Mound Picks

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sportswriter

Are the Cleveland Indians suffering from an incurable case of Yankeephobia? Is it true that the mere thought of Casey Stengel's crew scares the living daylights out of the otherwise dangerous tribe?

Probably not. But the time for the Indians to eliminate such suspicions is fleeting rapidly.

They come into Yankee Stadium tonight for the first of a two-game series. If they blow the opener most folks probably will advise them to go back to their Ohio camping grounds and wait for another season, even though there are 20 more New York-Cleveland clashes this summer.

Losing to the Yankees is an old, and undesirable habit, of the Indians. It has been many moons and eight long seasons since Cleveland won more games than it lost with New York.

The tribal witchdoctors may have a really big job ahead of them because there are indications the 1953 Yankee hex may be even more widespread than in the past.

Last night the Indians stopped off at their friendly wigwam on Lake Erie for a single game with Chicago. They had swept a three-game series with the improved St. Louis Browns. They owned a minute percentage edge over the second-place New Yorkers. A clear victory would have sent them on into New York with a chance to hold that lead even if they only broke even in the two games.

It didn't work out that way. The same Sox who bowed to Bob Lemon on a single hit on opening day collected eight against him last night and won the game, 2-1. The Indians, worrying about the Yankees' Whitey Ford, who pitches tonight, and Vic Raschi, who may go tomorrow, weren't able to concentrate against Billy Pierce. The left-hander gave up seven hits, all harmless except for Bobby Avila's second home run, in picking up his fifth win against a single setback.

The Cleveland-Chicago contest was the only regular action in either league yesterday. The traveling date brought three exhibitions, however, with the National Leaguers winning two from American League clubs and dropping a Detroit in Washington. All are night games.

In the National League Brooklyn, the leader over Philadelphia by half a game, invades Chicago for the only day contest; the Phillies are in St. Louis, Pittsburgh in Cincinnati and New York in Milwaukee.

Turner Wins, Seeks Bout Against Davey

NEW YORK (AP)—Aggressive Gil Turner was back on the victory trail today, aiming for a big money shot with Chuck Davey in August.

Heavier, a little slower afoot but just as fast as ever with his hands, Gil got back on the winning side Monday night by stopping lanky Johnny Lombardo of Mt. Carmel, Pa., in one minute of the seventh round at Eastern Parkway Arena.

For the first three rounds, the 3 to 1 underdog matched Turner punch for punch. But it took too much out of him and he faded under the Philadelphia welterweight contender's ceaseless bombardment from then on. There weren't any knockdowns but Lombardo almost fell in both the fourth and fifth rounds.

SHORT SPORTS

By John Short

Come Friday night, Marion living rooms will be the busiest places in town. Fight fans will be clustered around television screens all over the city to see the Rocky Marciano-Joe Walcott scrap in Chicago.

SHORT

As the fight draws nearer, Marion fans seem to be backing the champ more heavily. Sentiment seems about evenly divided as half the fans are pulling for Walcott to regain the crown.

Personally, we belong to the other half. For some reason, we have never been able to admire Walcott despite his age when he won the crown. We thought his seven-round knockout of Ezzard Charles to take the crown was a stroke of luck for the old man and have been hoping ever since that night to see some fighter send him back to his New Jersey home for keeps.

Walcott, tabbed as a "real fine" guy may be just that. But we certainly can't see placing him in the list of true champions. He won the crown on his fourth try. Then after defending his crown just once with a 15-round decision over Cahrles, he crawled into a hole and ignored all challengers until public demands forced the Marciano go.

When Marciano gained the championship, he won with a lightning like right to the jaw which ended the bout in the 13th round. Marciano got off the floor after an early knockdown to win. That, in our book, disproves the theory that Marciano can't take a punch. News reports which we read after that fight described the punch that floored the champ as a solid blow to the chin after a blow to the middle.

We don't have a cent riding on the fight but will admit that we hope the champion retains his crown. This time we would like to see him turn in a job which won't be considered a one punch win.

And Walcott will be bucking a

HOW THEY MEASURE UP. This is how Heavyweight Champion Rocky Marciano and Challenger Jersey Joe Walcott compare for title bout scheduled for Friday in Chicago Stadium.

Softball Action Begins

Epworth, Two St. Mary Teams Win Opening Games In Church Loop

St. Mary No. 1, Epworth Methodist and St. Mary No. 2 teams opened the Church Softball Loop Monday at Garfield Park with victories.

St. Mary No. 2 outlasted Trinity Baptist in the opener, 9-8, as the winners pounded five runs over the plate in the first inning before the jittery Trinity crew could retire the side. The five run first inning wrapped up the game for the Irish although they added two more in the third and single runs in the fourth and sixth innings. The winners' first inning splurge came on only one hit with their nine runs scored on a total of five safe base blows. Trinity rattled the slants of Bob Shumaker for 11 safties including a home run by D. Johnson in the seventh inning with one man on.

Epworth Methodist came from behind in the bottom of the sixth inning to score five runs and defeat the Church of the Brethren in the second game, 11-8. Although reaching Howard Gilbert for a total of 13 safe bingles as compared to Epworth's total of eight hits, the Brethren failed to push over the runs when the chances came. The winners also enjoyed another fat inning at the expense of loose Brethren fielding in the second frame, scoring five runs on a total of two safe hits.

Twin Wins Seen As Good Omen

CINCINNATI (AP)—Manager Rog-

Kell Aiming At League Batting Title

Holds 20-Point Edge Over Rosen; Wyrostek Tops NL

NEW YORK (AP)—Steady - swinging George Kell, a .300 hitter for the past seven seasons, is setting his sights early on winning his second American League batting championship.

The Boston Red Sox third baseman, who captured the hitting crown as a member of the Detroit Tigers in 1949, continues to top the American loop with a .395 average. Johnny Wyrostek of the Philadelphia Phils leads the National League for the third straight week with a mark of .405. Figures include Monday's game.

Kell went 3-for-11 last week and lost 20 points but still he retains a comfortable margin over Cleveland's Al Rosen, in second place with .357. Rosen's average fell off 23 points as he collected six hits in 20 trips.

Sherman Lollar of the Chicago White Sox went on a hitting spree to move into third place with a .352 average. Lollar went 8-for-15 and his average jumped 70 points.

Dave Philley of the Athletics skidded to fourth at .351, a 29-point decline, and Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees lost three points, but advanced to fifth with a .325 mark.

In the National League, Wyrostek's supremacy is being challenged by Roy Campanella of the Brooklyn Dodgers. The Philadelphia outfielder went 3-for-11 and his average took a 28-point nosedive.

Meanwhile, the onrushing Campanella connected safely nine times in 16 trips as he boosted his average 42 points to .390.

Cal Abrams of the Pirates and Rip Repulski of the Cards also came out of nowhere to pursue the pace-setters. Abrams, in third place, gained 40 points with a 6-for-11 spree and lifted his average to .373. Repulski took over fourth, zooming his average to .352, an increase of 52 points as he went 7-for-14.

The Phils' Connie Ryan climbed into fifth at .351.

Pierce Drops Tribe From First With 2-1 Verdict

NEW YORK (AP)—The Cleveland Indians make their season debut in Yankee Stadium tonight, fully intending to make pitcher Whitey Ford look as bad as he made them appear a week ago.

Yankee Manager Casey Stengel has rested Ford ever since that night in Cleveland, when he defeated the Indians, 11-1. Whitey will be after his third straight victory against no losses.

The Indians will start Early Wynn.

Manager Al Lopez hopes two of his long ball hittiing Indians, Al Rosen and Ray Boone, will be ready for tonight's game and the other game of the series Wednesday.

Rosen's neck has been stiff and Boone has had a recurrence of a knee injury.

Both of them sat and watched from the bench Monday night in Cleveland until the ninth inning, when they were inserted as pinch hitters.

They might as well have stayed in the dugout. White Sox pitcher Billy Pierce fanned Boon and forced Rosen to pop out to end the game and give Chicago a 2-1 victory.

That dropped the Indians out of their one-day hold on first place.

Bob Lemon pitched a good game, too, but he made the mistake of letting Chico Carrasquel sock a double in the eighth inning.

That blow, coming with two out, scored Minnie Minoso from third with the winning run.

Catcher Jim Hegan must be held responsible for Chicago's first run. Jim was closely watching Jim Rivera, who had singled in the fifth, and anticipated a steal.

He called for a pitchout. He was right about Rivera's intentions, but his throw to Bob Avila was too high and Jim was safe at second. A walk, a sacrifice, and an intentional pass filled the bases.

Then Pierce hit an infield grounder that George Strickland had to throw to first for the out, and Rivera scored from third.

Cleveland's only run was scored in the seventh inning, when Bob Avila hit a homer into the left field seats, his second of the year.

Iberia Futures Clip Johnsville

IBERIA — Iberia High School Monday served notice it will have to be reckoned with again next year in the Morrow County baseball chase. The Presidents copped this year's title.

Members of next year's team belted Johnsville, 10-3, Monday in a post-season tilt. The Johnnies took a 1-0 lead in the second inning but the locals pushed over six tallies in the third. Big blow of the inning was a grand slam home run by Eddie Stall. Pitcher Walt Chambers slapped a double and triple and Charles Miller hit a triple for the winners. Lyle Snavely, Johnsville hurler, smacked a triple.

GRID OFFICIAL DIS

WINCHESTER, Mass. (AP) — Joseph B. Pendleton, 85, veteran college football official, died Monday after a three-year illness.

A graduate of Bowdoin College, he officiated in more than 700 games in 40 years including the Harvard - Dartmouth clash which opened the Harvard Stadium in 1903.

Bill Engeln, new umpire in the National League, was signed by the Pacific Coast League off California in 1936.

ers Hornsby, steady as a rock during the darkest days of Cincinnati's slump, thinks the Redlegs are on their way up now, following their twin victory over St. Louis Sunday.

Hornsby has insisted there wasn't anything wrong with his club that a run of warm weather couldn't cure. He pointed to all the postponements inflicted upon Cincinnati and said it was a rough deal to get a "go-go" ball team started when miserable weather said "stop-stop."

The opener of the Pittsburgh-Cincinnati series is to be under the arcs tonight. Eddie Erautt (0-0) may draw his first starting assignment tonight, if Hornsy does not decide on Howie Judson (0-0). Bucco Manager Fred Haney named Paul Lapalme (1-2) to start.

BOWLING TEAM HOLDS PARTY

Members of the Steward Construction Co. bowling team and their wives, were entertained at a banquet and card party at Hotel Harding Saturday night. The team finished second in the Commercial League at Palace Recreation this season. Members of the team are Joe Tanner, Ronald Steward, Daymond Barnard, Frank Turner, Harold Steward and Loren Nelson.

Defending champions, St. Mary 1, pounded out 17 hits to wallop Wesley Methodist, 16-6, in a game called at the end of five innings. Tom Moran and Larry Lesser pounded out successive home runs in the fifth frame for St. Mary to lead the barrage of Irish hits. Wesley pieced four hits together in the third to score its initial two runs and added two more in the fifth on two safties and two walks.

Greenwood, the remaining team in the Church League drew a bye for Monday's opening games.

Charles Favored In Toledo Bout

TOLEDO, O. (AP)—With television and radio barred, promoter Sid Goldberg predicts a crowd of 5,000 for tonight's bout between former heavywight Champ Ezzard Charles and Bill Gilliam.

Charles, after his eighth straight victory on a promising comeback trail, is a 2½ to 1 favorite to whip the Orange, N. J. boxer. The 31-year-old Cincinnati battler wants a title fight against the victor of Friday night's Rocky Marciano-Jersey Joe Walcott championship bout.

At 188 pounds, he enters tonight's scheduled 10 round 20 pounds lighter than Gilliam.

St. Paul beat Charleston 10-7 and Louisville defeated Toledo 5-1. Columbus blanked Minneapolis 3-0 in 10 innings in the fourth Association game.

Don Bessent, youthful righthander, was a batting as well as pitching standout in St. Paul's victory over Charleston. He relieved in the second inning with the Saints trailing 7-4 and shut out the Senators the rest of the way on two hits. He drove in the winning run in the fifth with a long fly.

Two timely hits by Bob Broom accounted for four runs in Louisville's conquest of Toledo.

The Columbus-Minneapolis game was scoreless for nine innings with rookie Jim Kirk outlasting another rookie, the Millers' Al Worthington, for the victory.

Girls Team In Exhibition Here Thursday

Game at Lincoln Park Benefit For Little League Program

Two girls professional Baseball teams, the Ft. Wayne Daisies and Kalamazoo Lassies, clash at Lincoln Park Thursday at 8 p.m. in an exhibition game.

The game is being sponsored by the Baseball for Boys Commission and all profits will go toward Baseball for Boys, which includes Little League and Pony League.

There will be no advance sale of tickets due to the possibility of rain and ducats will be sold at the gate beginning at 7 p.m. Prices are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

One of the most feared hitters in the league is Betty Foss of Metropolis, Ill. She is the slugging first baseman of the Ft. Wayne Daisies, 1952 AGBL pennant winners.

Foss carried off just about every batting title in the league last year. She led the league in runs with 81, hits with 137, total bases with 209, doubles with 26, triples with 17 and runs batted in with 74. She hit .331 which was second best in the league. She is regarded as one of the all-time greats in the 11-year history of the AGBL.

Leading pitcher for Kalamazoo last season was Gloria Cordes of Staten Island, N.Y. She compiled a 16-8 mark, finishing all of the 24 games she started, and struck out 84. Her earned run average was 1.44.

The game to be played here is one of a 13-game exhibition schedule being played by the Lassies and Daisies in Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and Michigan.

Prexies Play Lima South Wednesday

Harding Wins, 3-1, on McKinstry's Two-Hitter

Harding downed Galion, 3-1, Monday at Lincoln Park behind John McKinstry's two-hitter and a three-run uprising in the sixth inning.

The win, Harding's second straight and sixth in its last seven starts, raised its season mark to a 6-3-1. Arrangements are being made for a game with Lima Central today and Lima South is here Wednesday.

Galion took a 1-0 lead in the fourth when it collected its only two hits. After two were out, Vance tripled and Hottenroth singled. Only two other Galion men reached base in the entire game, those on walks.

The locals clinched the game in the sixth inning after two were out when the Galion shortstop threw badly to first allowing Ron Conroy and Andy Simon to cross the plate.

Red Emmons led off the frame with a single and Dick Alex sacrificed but was safe on an error. Emmons was out at home on Conroy's grounder and then Simon beat out a bunt to load the bases. Bob Emmons walked and Alex was forced in and then Geissler popped up before Eddie Morse hit his grounder to the shortstop.

Morse and Red Emmons paced the Harding six-hit attack with two singles each.

McKinstry, in gaining his second triumph against three setbacks, fanned seven and walked only two. Hottenroth, Galion hurler, struck out five and walked five.

Stengel Sees Most Trouble From Indians

Roberts, Simmons Okay, Says Dressen, Drews Not Much

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—What the managers say:

Chuck Dressen, Dodgers — I guess we took care of Philadelphia's big three, all right. Even if we didn't beat all three, we sure softened them up for the other clubs. I wonder if Steve O'Neill will continue to pitch them with only two days rest. Does he still think they'll win 75 among 'em? Roberts and Simmons are good, all right, but Drews isn't much.

Casey Stengel, Yankees—Cleveland is the best club in the league if the Yankees aren't. Sure we beat 'em bad the one time we played 'em, but we're convinced they're the boys who are going to give us the most trouble. The Red Sox are the most improved. You have to hustle all the way to beat 'em. They could use more pitching.

Lou Boudreau, Red Sox — Naturally I'm elated over our fine early showing but I'll still be happy if we make the first division or come close to it. The bubble will burst when some of the other teams like Cleveland and the Yanks start hitting soon. We're a young, inexperienced club. Most of our experience is on the mound.

Al Lopez, Indians—We haven't been hitting like we can but we can't be too bad. Our fellows are just getting over their slumps. I don't feel too badly because from what I saw of the Yankees, they're plenty vulnerable.

Steve O'Neill, Phillies—Milwaukee is the most improved club in the league. They've got better pitching than is generally believed. Spahn, Bickford, Wilson and Surkont, backed by Antonelli and this

Ashley Farm Home Burns

Special to The Star

ASHLEY—A two-story farm home, two miles southeast of Ashley, was almost demolished in a fire which occurred at 9 a.m. Monday.

The blaze at the A. F. Fetty home had gained considerable headway by the time the Ashley fire department arrived. The second floor was entirely burned, however, most of the furnishings on the first floor were saved.

Firemen said apparently sparks from the chimney ignited shingles on the roof. No estimate of the loss has been made.

kid Liddle, form a pretty fair staff. I still think my idea of pitching Roberts, Simmons and Drews every third or fourth day is a good one.

Eddie Stanky, Cardinals— still thinks Jocko Conlan erred in that 'obstruction' call on Solly Hemus in Brooklyn. Jocko is a fine umpire, one of the best, but he was wrong on that one. By the way, that was the first time I was ever thrown out of a game by Conlan in 11 years.

Leo Durocher, Giants—So Bruton (Milwaukee's rookie center fielder) is the fastest thing in the league, eh? I'll stick with my boy, Bobby Thomson. Anytime those Milwaukee boys feel like putting up some money on their speed merchant, I'm ready to cover it. But the race will have to be at 100 yards. I've got a thousand that says Bobby will leave him far behind.

POOR CIRCULATION

What You Can Do About It

Suffers will be glad to learn that amazing, new scientific pulsators have been developed that will help poor blood circulation. A few minutes' daily use will help relieve painful limb cramps, numbness, cold feet and other circulatory ailments. Users report also that the devices are wonderful for nervous tension, fatigue and arthritis.

No electricity enters the body. Operation is similar to equipment built by same manufacturer for hospitals, institutions, etc. For Free Home Trial, Write C. E. Nichols, Box No. 59 in care of The Marion Star.

Annie Rooney — By Darrell McClure

I STILL CAN'T BELIEVE A BUNCH OF LITTLE KIDS COULD CLEAN UP THAT BIG, RUBBISH-COVERED YARD SO FAST—
BUT THEY DID, EPH—THEY MADE A GAME OF IT—PILED UP ALL THE RUBBISH—THEN THEY DONE A CLEAN-UP JOB ON ALL THE CAKE, ICE CREAM, PEANUTS AN' POPCORN!
THEN THE WHOLE GANG RUSHED OUT LIKE WILD INDIANS AN' SET FIRE TO THE RUBBISH PILE AN' DONE A WAR DANCE AROUND IT—WHEN THEY FINISHED, THE BLUEBIRDS' BALL CLUB HAD THEIR OWN BALL PARK—IT WAS ANNIE'S IDEA—
THEY SURE DID DO A RIGHT FANCY JOB—
THAT AIN'T ALL THEY DONE, MANDY—WITH THE YARD ALL SLICKED UP, IT MAKES THE OLD BARN AN' SHED LOOK MIGHTY SHABBY AN' DRABBY—bait for months.

Burns said he experimented for 17 years before he got a trap that works like this:

The mouse enters a tiny door lured by the delicate odor of stale cheese, peanut butter, cat food, bacon, or mouse hormones. He sneaks up a ramp to a platform—and wham!

The platform tilts. The mouse plunges into the teeth of a swinging arm. The arm sets off a rotating plunger which spins at 7,200 turns a minute until the mouse is too dizzy to know where he was going.

Then the arm hurls the mouse against a steel plate, which Burns said unfailingly breaks the little creature's neck. The plunger stops, the swinging arm pushes the mouse into a drawer and the trap sets itself again to wait for the next victim.

ice retail operations in 1953, according to a shelving manufacturer.

Dave Shulman, vice president in charge of sales for the S. A. Hirsh Manufacturing Co., based his prediction on sales figures and booked orders. He said 10 per cent of the 200,000 groceries in the United States not now using the self-service method intend to switch this year.

Shulman said many drug and hardware stores are adopting supermarket techniques of retailing. Soft goods also are being considered for self-service selling, although not necessarily along the same lines as the large markets, he added.
